High water cuts road

Route P east of LaForge has been closed to traffic by high water from the Mississippi River. E. A. Acord, a farmer from Sikeston, visited the flooded area this morning to get a look at the latest worry for Bootheel farmers. The United States Weather Service office in Cairo, Ill., indicates that the current crest on the river will pass this weekend and that spring flooding is not expected to match last year's record levels.

Nixon seeks reduced tax allowances for oil

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon asked Congress today to reduce the tax breaks available to U.S. oil companies operating overseas and to ease the demands of present clean air laws.

The President sent Congress a new energy message urging passage of the emergency legislation previously proposed and adding some new proposals.

Nixon's new measure would, if adopted:

—Eliminate the 22 per cent depletion allowance granted U.S. companies producing oil abroad.

—Reduce the amount of foreign income tax which U.S. oil companies can credit directly against their taxes in the United States.

—Extend for two more years the emission standards now applying to 1975 automobiles.

—Remove the present requirement for a 90 per cent reduction in nitrogen oxide emissions in 1976 cars.

—Extend the legal deadline for meeting clean air standards in metropolitan areas which otherwise would need "unreasonable transportation controls."

—Permit temporary relaxation of clean air deadlines and requirements for power plants and other sources which cannot get an adequate supply of clean energy.

—Speed the licensing and construction of atomic power plants by encouraging standardized plant designs, establishing an inventory of approved locations for future power plants and separating the questions of site approval from reactor licensing.

Meanwhile, at the Capitol, the Senate's investigating subcommittee chaired by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., continued into a third day its hearings on the energy crisis. Executives of seven leading oil firms were witnesses.

Jackson became angry at one point when Exxon vice president Roy A. Baze was unable to provide some figures on his firm's fourth quarter earnings.

"These are just childish responses, Mr. Baze," Jackson said, adding "I guess we're going to have to start slapping subpoenas on some of you."

Jackson reported earlier that the administration is considering rolling back prices on domestic oil production.

Jackson, one of the most influential Congress members in the energy field, emerged from a meeting of Nixon and bipartisan Senate-House leaders to report a price rollback as a possibility.

The Nixon message was expected to include a proposal to tax excess profits by the oil companies, a matter of growing congressional interest.

William E. Simon, the administration's energy policy chief, was reported by Jackson to have authority to order the price rollback on new domestic oil production which the senator termed essential.

Jackson conceded legislation would be needed to cut the prices on output from stripper wells producing no more than 10 barrels a day.

Meanwhile, the controversial issues of gasoline rationing and energy conservation were taking a temporary back seat to growing congressional demands for a change in tax breaks given big oil.

"Our tax policy, instead of encouraging energy development in the U.S., has made the Arab nations self-sufficient," Jackson said Tuesday as his investigations subcommittee wound up its second day of quizzing oil companies executives on the extent of the energy crisis.

Senate Finance chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., who last month led a filibuster against emergency energy legislation because of a provision to limit excess profits by the oil industry, said he would be willing to support tax legislation that would induce the companies to turn their attention to exploration and development at home.

The emergency bill, which would give President Nixon power to order gas rationing and mandatory energy conservation measures, remained stalled by the continuing threat of a filibuster by Republicans and oil-state senators who oppose the excess profits provision. Long said he would not join the filibuster this time, but other senators vowed to stop the bill from ever coming to a vote.

Higher humidity will lower fuel bill

CHICAGO — Have you set your home thermostat down to 68 degrees yet? Are you chilly and you don't like to sit around the house in a coat? You want to save fuel (and money), but see no reason to be uncomfortable? What do you expect, a magic way to stay warm at 68?

Well, there is a way and though it's hardly magic, it works. The answer, as you may have read, is sufficient humidity. The case for adding humidity to dry indoor air in the winter has been well documented, and for many reasons.

Looking at it from the fuel-saving standpoint alone, experts estimate you can save 3 per cent on your fuel bill for every degree you lower your temperature. Cut it 4 degrees and you have saved 12 per cent, which is a nice piece of change and a real contribution in helping relieve the energy crisis.

You won't have to shiver under 70 degrees if you keep your humidity in the 40 to 45 per cent range.

Air Force studies conducted to set standards for arctic bases find that a man dressed in normal indoor clothing will be comfortable at 72 degrees with 40 per cent relative humidity; higher humidity will keep him comfortable as the temperature falls to 68 or 70 degrees.

If no moisture is added and the relative humidity falls to 6 or 8 per cent, as it may during very cold weather, it may take a temperature of 76 degrees or more to keep persons comfortable.

You prove the principle every time you swelter in summer and blame the humidity. Humid air feels warmer.

Bill Hamilton, president of Ultimatic Products and a recognized authority on humidification, recommends 35 to 50 per cent relative humidity as the indoor ideal during winter. A good humidifier should provide this and, if it has a humidistat you can check it.

You can take an approximate humidity reading without instruments. Hamilton suggests some informal tests: Walk across the rug or carpet and kiss someone. Do you feel a tiny shock of static electricity? Your relative humidity is 30 per cent or less. Open your front door, leaving the storm door closed. Does the storm door fog up in 30 seconds or less? Your humidity is around 40 per cent. Make an iced drink in an ordinary glass. Does moisture condense on the outside in a minute or less? Again, your humidity is around 40 per cent.

Lack of humidity leaves many other teltale signs for all to read as the desert- dry air sucks up moisture from any source it can — furniture, walls, paint and people. Furniture joints separate, paint cracks and persons develop respiratory ailments as the mucous membranes of the nose and throat dry out.

Only in supercold weather does Hamilton believe humidity should be somewhat less. Otherwise, there may be problems of excessive condensation on windows and, in older houses lacking vapor barriers, the moisture may go through the walls and freeze on the outside, damaging the paint.

County shows rise in unmarrieds living alone

Living alone and maintaining their own homes has become a way of life for more and more single people in Scott County.

These men and women-- some of them young and some of them old-- would have been living with, and dependent upon, relatives in former years.

Now, however, attitudes and conditions are different and people are able to satisfy the secret urge that many of them have had to be on their own.

They find that they can get jobs and earn enough, often aided by social security, pensions or family assistance, to swing it financially.

In Scott County, according to the latest government figures, the proportion of local housing units occupied by singles is now 18.1 per cent. In 1960 it was 14.2 per cent.

Elsewhere in the United States the ratio is 20.2 per cent. It is 20.7 per cent in the West North Central States and 21.1 per cent in the State of Missouri.

Of the 66.7 million households in the nation last year, 13.5 million were occupied by singles, reports the Department of Commerce. It was 71 per cent more than in 1960.

By way of comparison, the proportion of dwelling units occupied by singles increased four times faster in the period than did those occupied by two or more persons.

Most of the surge is attributed to young people. Because of the greater freedom they have acquired in the last decade or so there has been a growing tendency on their part to have their own living quarters away from the parental home.

Also, more men and women under 35 are staying

Corps of Engineers sets up flood center

MEMPHIS, Tenn.— Col. A. C. Lehman, district engineer, announced today that the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers has set up an Emergency Operations Center in the Clifford Davis Federal Building at Memphis to minitor high- water conditions now occurring on the Lower Mississippi River.

Should it become necessary, mobilization of Memphis District employes for flood fight operations will be ordered by the district engineer. Mobilization is normally implemented in two phases.

Phase one, the current condition which is now going into effect along the west bank of the Mississippi River from Cape Girardeau, Missouri, to the Missouri-Arkansas state line and along the east bank of West Kentucky and West Tennessee, consists generally of detailing adequate forces to observe conditions of levees, structures and caving banks and alerting all district personnel concerned with flood fighting operations.

Phase two, should conditions worsen, will call for the actual mobilization of forces for flood fight operations. Initially, skeleton forces are mobilized as rapidly as possible. This is followed by an expansion of these forces to the strength required by the situation.

Authorization for Corps of Engineers participation in flood fighting operations is contained in the Flood Control Acts of 1928, 1936, 1941, 1946, 1948, 1950 and 1962; Public Law 99, approved June 28, 1955; and the Disaster Relief Act of 1970.

Basically, corps work in the emergency situation will be performed as prescribed by Public Law 99, which authorizes the expenditure of federal funds for flood emergency preparation, flood fighting rescue operations and the repair or restoration of any flood control work threatened or destroyed by flood. This includes strengthening, raising, extending or other modifications which may become necessary for the adequate functioning of the flood control works.

In connection with rescue operations, this mobilization also includes the acquisition of any vehicles which may be necessary.

The telephone number at the Memphis Emergency Operations Center is 901-534- 3401.

I am for Bro. Kirkpatrick, I know that he is smart enough about this election business that he don't want the election board of St. Louis to mess him around or to invalidate a state wide election.

American Security Council comments in a recent bulletin:

"The Arab oil embargo has put us into a real energy crunch.

"Yet, the Arabs would not even have considered such action against the United States if we still had military superiority over the Soviet Union.

"Since the Soviets are now ahead of us militarily, they encouraged the Arabs to cut off our oil and assured them that Russia's backing would guarantee that the United States could not force the Arabs to live up to their oil contracts.

"This is only the beginning of the cost to us of becoming the second- best military power.

"And, it may get even worse because the Members of Congress for Peace Through Law, an organization devoted to cutting our defense budget, boasts that it now has 141 members who are U.S. Senators or Representatives, Members such as McGovern, Kennedy, Javits, Proxmire and Fulbright.

"The anti-defense lobby has become so powerful that it was able to get enough support to pass the War Powers bill over President Nixon's veto and to stop the U. S. air defense of Cambodia."

PLUMBING
A MYSTERY

The story is no doubt apocryphal, but one plumber is said to require his potential customers to submit their requests in writing. All entries are judged on their neatness and originality.

At any rate, plumbers are invariably cited as an example of how those offering skilled services have become the new elite in our society. Some of them earn as much as $18,000 a year — yet you can't get one to make a housecall.

Why this should be so is a mystery. After all, how many times a year — or a decade, for that matter — does the average homeowner require the services of a plumber? There aren't that many new houses being built to keep them all busy.

It's a mystery, and if plumbers know the answer, they're not telling anyone. Except maybe their doctors.

A COMING TRNED:
PROXY HAIR

You've heard of hair transplants, made famous by, among other notables, a certain senator from Wisconsin. Now there's something called hair implants.

The two are similar, but whereas transplanting involves seeding the barren male pate with one's own hair taken from another part of the head or body, implanting is done with artificial hair.

First, a surgical foundation of plastic, a webbing or netting similar to that in a tennis racket, is inserted in the scalp by a dermatologist. Then synthetic hairs, matching the color and thickness of the client's own hair, are impregnated into the webbing.

Ugh. But the entire process is relatively simple and painless since it is done under a local anesthetic.

Cost for an implant ranges from $1,000 to $1,500. But it will usually last a lifetime and is said to be the best and most permanent type of artificial hair available. However, a "checkup" once or twice a year, costing about $35 a visit, is recommended.

Ugh again. Nevertheless, "implants are definitely the coming trend in hair replacement," says Seymour Sperling, president of New York's Replacement Center, which holds the patent on the process.

"Ten years ago, when a man was bald or had thinning hair, he wouldn't even consider making a change. Today," says Sperling, "something can be done about baldness that is both socially acceptable as well as scientifically tested and men are doing it all the time."

Does he or doesn't he? Only his hair implanter — and his banker — may know for sure.

MEAT SHORTAGE MAY FORCE SHIFT TO MUSICAL FRUIT

No matter how we slice it, we will all have to go a little easy on meat for awhile. Even farmers have quit butcherin'. At least half of them don't have any critters on the farm to butcher. There's not even a chicken to chop the head off if you see unexpected company coming down the road.

Things sure have changed. Ivar Olson tells about a neighbor lady he worked for off an' on when he was a kid. She would look acrost the open prairie an' see a wagonload of relatives coming her way. Quick she scooted out to the chicken coop, grabbed a couple of hens, chopped their heads off, dressed them and had them frying in the kitchen before the team an' wagon pulled into the front yard.

With meat shortage, it's up to us to look around for some meat substitutes to supply our protein. There are quite a few of them, more in fact than there were when we were all poor. The soybeans we raise by the shipfull are excellent protein, good for man an' beast. Hungry people all over the world want our beans but we are too stuck up toeat them ourselves an' we complain when they mix a few of them with our hamburger.

But the most neglected protein substitute of all is the good old - fashioned navy bean. A couple of generations ago hardly a day would pass without the family gettin' beans in one form or another. Every woman knew how to raise them an' cook them. They were good an' they really stuck to the ribs. They was good nutrition for man, woman, an' child, especially when there was a meat shortage.

Now beans had one problem. Today the environmentalists would call it emission control. We called them windy. In fact beans were known as the musical fruit an' no bones about it.

I read in the papers about a team of scientists out on the west coast that had figured out why beans needed emission controls and they were on the point of a great discovery. They think they have a way to take the wind out of the bean. Now I ain't too sure we should spend good taxpayers' money on a project like that, but them scientists stand to make a lot of money on their invention.

Thinking back to the days in the one room country school, I feel downright sorry for the school teacher who had to cope with a bunch of big boys that were practically raised on beans an' onions. The atmosphere in the schoolhouse was so thick you could slice it when the boys decided to put on a competition. An' there was nothing the teacher could do about it unless the boys got a little careless an' added noise pollution to air pollution.

Now here is a crisis that the environmentalists have neglected. They really oughter get after the guv'ment to increase the grants for this kind of research. It will be in the nick of time if high food prices and protein shortages force us to turn from meat to beans.

During a hike in the woods a troop of boy scouts came across an abandoned section of railroad track. Each, in turn, tried walking the rails but eventually lost his balance and tumbled off.

Suddenly two of the boys, after considerable whispering, offered to bet that they could both walk the entire length of the track without falling off. Challenged to make good their boast, the two boys jumped up on opposite rails, extended a hand to balance each other, and walked the entire section of track with no difficulty whatever.

There, in a nutshell, is the principle of modern business and community living. The day of the hermit and the lone wolf are gone forever. We do things better, we produce more, and we live better by helping each other. The fellow who lends a helping hand benefits himself at the same time as he helps the other fellow.

The reverse is also true. When we don't help each other, when we don't cooperate, the whole system starts to rattle and shake.

The difference between a good company and a poor one, an effective department and an inefficient one, is often reflected in the cooperation, or lack of it, among the people who work there. When people help each other, freely and voluntarily, there's a spirit of teamwork that makes a department or company really go — a pleasure to be associated with. When there's no cooperation — no spirit of the helping hand freely given — what might have been pleasant jobs become grudging chores.

Do you recall when Edmund Hillary and his native guide, Tenzing, made their historic climb of Mt. Everest? Coming down from the peak Hillary suddenly lost his footing. Tenzing held the line taut and kept them both from falling by digging his ax into the ice. Later Tenzing refused any special credit for saving Hillary's life; he considered it a routine part of the job. As he put it: "Mountain climbers always help each other."

Should the rest of us be any different?

DIRTY WORK TO BE DONE

The Congress has the power to tax and the power to spend and that's the power that runs the country, politically. No politician in his right mind would give that up. For that reason, no one was surprised when the proposal to limit federal spending to $250 billion and give the President the authority to make cuts where he wanted to hold that ceiling was defeated.

The main point of interest is that some real concern is being voiced both in the Congress and the Executive Branch about the imperative need to gain some control over federal spending levels so that effective ceilings can be imposed and adhered to. The alternative is for the congressional money machine to keep pouring a growing pile of dollars by the billions into the economy until the lid blows off inflation and makes national bankruptcy a living experience for all of us.

The "buck" to control spending really shouldn't be passed to the President. If we the people, and our elected representatives in Congress, don't have the guts to raise taxes or cut spending to keep from bankrupting the United States, then that's all she wrote. There is really no one else in a position to do our dirty work for us.

NIXON TAPES, NEWS SOURCES NOT SAME

President Nixon, in his refusal to release the tapes of presidential conversations bearing on the Watergate investigation, is in exactly the same position as the news media when it argues that it should not be forced to reveal its sources according to a number of critics.

Were Richard Nixon a cub reporter who had written a story exposing some kind of criminal activity, it has been suggested, all the newspapers in the country would be solemnly championing his right to refuse to disclose his confidential sources to a public prosecutor on a "fishing expedition."

This is true. But if that reporter were himself suspected of involvement in some kind of criminal activity, whether before or after the fact, then any claim by him to journalistic immunity would be unsupportable and no editor would want him shielded.

This is one place where the attempted analogy falls. Another is that the purpose of protecting the confidentiality of news sources is to encourage the exposure of wrongdoing — not to cover it up; to dig up information the public would not otherwise know about, and in the end to assist the legal authorities in the performance of their duties — not to impede them.

The difference is vital.

DEFENSE ECONOMIES CAN CUT $7 BILLION

If there ever comes a day when Defense Department spokesmen inform Congress that the nation's military forces are in good shape, that they have all the weapons they will need for the foreseeable future, that there are no ominous Soviet developments on the horizon and yes, gentlement, there is a good deal of fat that could be trimmed off the defense establishment — if that day should ever come, we will know that President Nixon's promised "generation of peace" has truly arrived.

Yet despite the ending of the Vietnam war, all the talk of detente and rapprochement between East and West and hopes for the SALT disarmament negotiations, one would think we were still in the dark, early days of the Cold War when the Communist threat to world peace and freedom was first perceived.

Melvin ("Gloom- and -Doom") Laird is no longer secretary of defense, but the new secretary, James R. Schlesinger, has effectively caught up the banner of national security and rapped it across the knuckles of congressional budget- cutters, whom he accuses of indulging in "postwar follies" that would dismantle the nation's defenses.

As before, Congress will end up by giving the Pentagon pretty much what it asks for in the way of more and better weapons systems. It will because it is only common sense to err, if error it is, on the side of caution, and because it is so excruciatingly difficult to decide what will be needed and what will not be needed to meet the challenges of the future or just to preserve America's deterrent credibility.

It has been difficult up to now, at any rate. According to one observer, however, those on Capitol Hill who believe it is time to reign in military spending are potentially in a much stronger position than they have been in the past.

For the first time, they can now make intelligent decisions about the defense budget because they at last have sources of independent and reliable information, writes John Fischer in Harper's magazine.

He cites two sources outside the government, the Brookings Institution and the Center for Defense Information, the latter staffed by a number of retired admirals, generals and other former Defense Department officials, who have been giving close scrutiny to the nation's defense needs.

Their findings give scant comfort to the snow- white doves among us, Fischer notes. Defense spending cannot be slashed overnight by the amounts some radical critics have suggested. But they do indicate that some $7 billion as a start could be cut out of the military budget for fiscal 1974 without weakening our defense posture.

There are plenty of opportunities for minor economies. For example, all our armed forces are top-heavy with brass. For every enlisted man, there is one officer or noncom to supervise him. Much larger savings could be made by modest cutbacks in the size of our armed forces and the closing of unnecesary bases at home and overseas.

At the very least, these independent sources are presenting facts, figures and documented "strategic scenarios" that can be studied by conscientious congressmen who neither want to be accused by the folks back home of gambling with American's security nor want to place further strain on an inflationary economy which, itself, could weaken the United States more than the lack, say, of a more sophisticated nuclear submarine.

"If they choose to use this information in a courageous and responsible way," says Fischer, "that could be the best news of the century for the American taxpayer."

"COLONIALISM" WITH A VENGEANCE

Powerful groups of proponents of various left-slanted ideologies have created a climate of world opinion which holds that "colonialism" is bad for everybody, both the exploited and the exploiters, by advancing the claim that industrail nations such as Britain, France, Belgium and the United States "exploit" other parts of the world by utilizing their natural resources and labor at extremely favorable rates.

The leftist theory is that the market forces of supply and demand work to the disadvantage of the area and people supplying the natural resources for the industrial areas.

Little or no sympathy is expressed, however, for the people of U.S. oil and gas producing states whose labor and natural resources are shamefully exploited for the benefit of other areas; and the exploitation is not by the free choice of consumers in the marketplace but by political power. Highly populated eastern and northern states, non-producers of oil and gas, wield their political power to suppress prices, wages and profits of workers, investors and royalty owners in the oil and gas producing states.

Being done to Asian or African peoples, this would be "colonialism" with a vengeance. Done to our own people, it is called something else. To compound the injustice, the exploiters have created a legal and ideological climate which forbids exploration for oil and gas in their own states and makes construction of refineries or of alternate energy sources virtually impossible, while "allocating available production and clamoring for more from the producing states. A man reaches a peak when his first son gets old enough to shovel the snow.

Next he'll be big enough to be trusted with the power mower and Dear Old Dad can add a summer of no grass-cutting to the winter of no snow-shoveling and the fall of no leaf-raking.

This is the summit sighted when mother first announces that the first-born cleared the light snow from the sidewalk by himself for the first time.

But that joy is more a plateau than a peak.

For a boy willingly undertakes these tasks for a very limited number of years.

Soon his excitement at being allowed to shovel the snow by himself, his thrill at being trusted with the growling mower will fade. The joy of manly chores dims with the arrival of interest in sports or girls — or both — or the higher motive of performing for pay the tasks his parents once granted grudingly as a reward for ascending boyhood.

In fairness, be it noted that such plateaus are not exclusively male domain. Girls may not pursue snow-shoveling or grass-cutting — although if that's their pleasure let 'em — but they follow similar trails through baby-sitting and dishwashing. The pig-tailed cutie who begged for the honor of dishwashing at 8 wails with homework, colds, urgent telephone calls and approaching paralysis when offered that chance at 15.

If a man is lucky, his supply of sons may provide years of relief from sidewalk and lawn.

As one boy's interest slides off the plateau on the far side of snow-shoveling as recreation, the next becomes old enough to demand his chance.

It is a wise father who encourages the toddler to trail his big brother into the cold armed with a toy shovel and a willing spirit of imitation.

If there is a rule to such things, it is that the second son will start earlier than the first. And the third earlier still.

But the flame which burns earlier dies sooner and the boy who starts his snow removal career at 6 will weary of that job that many years earlier.

Possibly interest may be spurred in its declining moments by rotating the task. When two boys are equally capable of performing a chore, the one who's being honored gets designated — that sort of honor system psychologically gets more snow removed faster than a process which selects for the task the boy who's been least good most recently.

Among boys, tasks must be rotated though, and not shared.

The snow it takes one boy one hour to shovel takes two boys two hours.

Or, as the wise old men of the Ozark hills declared long ago:

One boy's a hand, two boys is half a hand and three boys ain't no hand atall.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Trace More '72 Funds to Bebe

WASHINGTON -- Industrialist Howard Hughes' celebrated $100,000 gift wasn't the only cash that Bebe Rebozo collected for President Nixon.

From sources who have been 100 per cent reliable in the past, we have now learned that other fatcats delivered cash for Nixon to his Florida friend.

No written receipts, apparently, were given. Our sources say the President usually would acknowledge the contributions by telephoning the donors and thanking them.

At this point, we have been able to isolate and identify only one of the cash contributions positively. This was a $10,000 gift from the Davis brothers, who founded the Winn- Dixie supermarket chain.

An intermediary, after checking with Rebozo, said he acknowledged accepting the $10,000 from the Davises and collecting other cash contributions during the 1968 campaign. (J. E. Davis, the Winn- Dixie chairman, failed to return our calls.)

Our sources say Nixon used the cash as "walking around money" to pay his personal expenses. This is vigorously disputed by Rebozo who insisted, according to the intermediary, that the contributions were turned over to the campaign finance chairman, Maurice Stans.

We were unable to reach Stans, although a source close to the fund- raising said there was no record of cash deliveries from Rebozo.

It is a matter of record, at least, that the $100,000 from Hughes was not delivered to Stans. Rebozo has sworn he kept this money for three years in a safe deposit box at his Key Biscayne, Fla., bank.

FOOTNOTE: We made repeated requests to the White House for comment which was promised but never given.

KROGH'S STATEMENT: Contrary to press speculation that Egil Bud "Krogh will implicate President Nixon in the crimes of the White House para- police plumbers unit, Krogh has given the Watergate prosecutors a statement assuming personal responsibility, as chief plumber, for the illegal activities.

Earlier, the prosecutors had thought Krogh could tie the President directly to the plumber's operations. They expected Krogh's statement, therefore, to be a blockbuster that would force the President to resign or face impeachment.

Their expectations were heightened by ex- White House counsel John Dean's sworn testimony before the Senate Watergate Committee about the break- in of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office.

"I asked (Krogh) if he had received his authorization to proceed with the burglary from (John) Ehrlichman," testified Dean. "Krogh responded that, no, he did not believe that Ehrlichman had been aware of the incident until shortly after it had occurred. Rather, he had received his orders right out of the oval office. I was so surprised to hear this that I said, 'You must be kidding.' And he repeated again that he had received his instructions out of the oval office."

Sources with access to Krogh's sworn statement say he claimed Dean had misunderstood him. It was the orders setting up the plumbers unit that came out of the oval office, not the orders for the Ellsberg break- in, Krogh explained.

BURGER'S BOY: The woman who was pushed out of her General Services Administration job to make room for Chief Justice Warren Burger's son has now told us about her experience.

Marilyn Weiner resigned in frustration after many of her duties were turned over to Wade Burger.

"Wade would sit with his feet up on the desk, smoke cigarettes and flick the ashes on the carpet," Mrs. Weiner told us. "He never did much work.

"Every once in a while, pressure was brought on him to get the work out. I was told by a superior to clock him, to see how long he left the room. Sometimes, it was a half hour or an hour. Sometimes, I wouldn't see him the rest of the day."

Mrs. Weiner charged that Burger put his name on her last major project, a condemnation report on a piece of property in Virginia.

"It was this much paperwork," she said, holding her thumb and forefinger about two inches apart. "Wade stapled it together after all the work was done and put his name on it."

Mrs. Weiner retired last October after 14 years of government service, with outstanding ratings. "They'll all be mad at me for telling about Wade Burger," she said. "They all protect him. They all know he's dull."

Yet he received a special title and a $25,863 salary to do the work, largely, that Mrs. Weiner had done for $12,775 a year.

FOOTNOTE: We tried in vain to reach Wade Burger for comment. A woman in his office kept saying he was out and no one knew when he would return.

Melton's contract extended

HOWARDVILLE— The New Madrid County R- 1 enlarged school district board of education extended Supt. Ray Melton's two- year contract an additional year to July 1976 at its January meeting. The board also approved 1974- 75 contracts of the five unit administrators upon recommendation of the superintendent.

Unit administrators are Roy Hon, Lilbourn unit; Joe Scott, Matthews unit; Glenn Dyke, New Madrid unit; James Lovett, Parma unit; and Bill Nance, Portageville unit.

Other administrative contracts approved include Sam Bodine, vocational director; Lester King, Title I director and transportation director; and H. B. Mitchell, assistant title I director and assistant transportation director.

Salaries for these positions were not determined but will be considered by the board at the time the 1974- 75 teachers' salary schedule is adopted.

The board also approved a high school graduation policy to begin in the 1974- 75 school year, which complies with minimum requirements established by the State Department of Education.

The policy requires three units in communication skills, three units of social studies, one each in science, mathematics, fine arts, practical arts and physical education and nine units of elective courses.

The low bid by McCrate Equipment Co. of Portageville for 17 bus chassis combined with bus bodies was selected by the board after consideration was given to several bids.

Bids submitted for milk contracts were for the same amounts and reflected nearly a 13 per cent increase in the price of milk. The board agreed to continue its program with Turner Dairy Co. of Sikeston.

Approval was given by the board for the district to seek a renewal of the Follow Through Program grant for the 1974- 75 school year.

Bills totaling $157,887 were approved by the board, and it was noted that the payroll for the month was $323,827.

3 Madrid men plead guilty in Circuit Court

NEW MADRID — Three men were sentenced and granted probation Tuesday in Circuit Court when they pleaded guilty to criminal charges before Judge William L. Ragland.

Terry Brown of New Madrid pleaded guilty to tampering with a motor vehicle on Nov. 3, 1973 by removing a battery from a crawler tractor owned by Ramsey Farms on Highway 61. He was sentenced to two years in the custody of the State Department of Corrections, then granted probation under supervision.

Probation under supervision was granted to Ernest Smith Jr. of New Madrid when he received concurrent two- year sentences on burglary and larceny charges. Smith was accused with two other men of breaking into Gene Long's Standard Service Station on Interstate 55 at the Howardville interchange on Jan. 8. Approximately $300, three sets of keys and a ring were reported stolen.

Denny Briggs, charged with felonious stealing, was sentenced to two years in custody of the State Department of Corrections, then granted probation under supervision. Briggs was charged with stealing $578.04 from the Martin Oil Co. station in New Madrid, where he was employed as an attendant. He was arrested and charged after an investigation indicated he had fabricated a story about being robbed by a man with a gun on Jan. 10.

Presley, Kilgore exchange vows

First Christian Church was the setting for the Dec. 28 evening wedding of Sandra Kay Presley and Mikell Glenn Kilgore. The double- ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Paul Walker.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Edith Ford of Sikeston and the late Leonard Ford. The groom is the son of Mrs. Sarah Meyer of Miami, Fla., and the late Glenn Kilgore.

Altar decorations consisted of lighted tapers in spiral candelabras accented with burgundy bows. Six lighted tapers in single candelabras progressed up the chancel steps. Two arrangements of deep red roses decorated the front altar and two white pedestals, which each held a silver tray and challis, completed the altar setting. Burgundy bows marked the pews, and Christmas greenery entwining the windows and podiums of the sanctuary added a romantic touch.

Danny Malone provided classical music selections and the traditional wedding march on the organ and piano before the ceremony. He also accompanied Mrs. Teresa Johnson, as she sang an adapted version of "Love Story" for the groom, and Tom Nunnelee, as he sang, "And I Love Her", for the bride.

The bride was met by the groom halfway down the aisle and escorted to the altar. She wore a floor-length gown of ivory Venise lace. The fitted bodice was accented with a Victorian neckline and Renaissance sleeves with self ruffle. The empire waist was complemented with an ivory satin band that came to a bow in the back with streamers the length of the gown. The A- line lace skirt was highlighted with shirred lace ruffles four inches apart down to the hemline.

The bride's only jewelry was her engagement ring and a pair of tiny jeweled earrings, a gift from the groom. Ivory and burgundy-tipped roses adorned her hair.

The bride carried a white inlaid mother- of- pearl Bible with the Star of David inscribed on the top, covered with ivory and burgundy-tipped roses mixed with baby's breath and accented with burgundy velvet ribbon. The Bible came from The Holy Land and was borrowed from a friend, Mrs. Irene Kuehle.

The bride chose Mrs. Sharon Hatley of Paducah, Ken., as her matron of honor and only attendent. She was attired in a floor- length gown of burgundy crushed velvet styled similarly to the bride's. She carried an old-fashioned nosegay of different shades of carnations mixed with baby's breath and olive green streamers. Similar flowers adorned her hair.

Tracy Anne Presley, daughter of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a long gown of olive green crushed velvet and carried a small old- fashioned nosegay of different shades of carnations mixed with baby's breath and burgundy streamers. Pink and white carnations accented her hair.

The groom was attired in an ivory brocade Lord West tuxedo with ming green ruffled shirt and black bow tie. A single red rose complemented his outfit. His best man was Art Hobbs of Sikeston, who wore a burgundy formal tuxedo with pink ruffled shirt and black bow tie. A single ivory rose was worn on his lapel.

Wayne Hatley of Paducah, Ky., and Jim Clay of Sikeston served as ushers and candlelighters. They were dressed in single breasted black tuxedos with white ruffled shirts and black bow ties. Each wore a single red rose on his lapel.

Mrs. Clare Hobbs of Sikeston attended the guestbook.

The wedding couple composed their own wedding vows which they kept from each other until the ceremony. As the couple departed up the aisle Mrs. Johnson and Nunnelee sang, "We've Only Just Begun".

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ford chose a floor- length green dress and coat ensemble accented in gold. She wore an old-fashioned corsage of rainbow carnations.

Mrs. Meyer chose a floor-length blue gown accented in silver for her son's ceremony. An old- fashioned corsage of rainbow carnations also completed her outfit.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church fellowship hall with the Keystone Class in charge. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a four- tier, columned, wedding cake. Greenery and roses encircled the cake which held the traditional bride and groom replicas. Silver candelabra, punch bowl and compotes of nuts and mints completed the setting. Mrs. Alice Nunnelee and Mrs. Cathy Heacox assisted at the reception table.

The couple left for a wedding trip to St. Louis. For traveling the bride wore a burgundy and ivory dress and jacket. She completed her ensemble with gray suede shoes and purse and a corsage of roses from the bridal bouquet.

The couple lives at 909 Arlington Road. The bride teaches second grade at Lee Hunter Elementary School and the groom is a registered representative for Reinholdt & Gardner Stock Brokers.

Out- of- town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Butts and children of Berkeley, a sister of the bride; Mrs. John Carter of Cairo, Ill., aunt of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Stone of Cairo, cousins of the bride; Gary Walter and Mr. and Mrs. James MacAtee of St. Louis; and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Owens of Creve Coeur.

Following a rehearsal on the eve of the wedding, a dinner was held at Two-Tony's Smorgasbord for the wedding party, family and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Mikell Glenn Kilgore

Elderly lady wants cat buried with her

Dear Ann: I am suffering from an illness which has been diagnosed as "terminal." I have accepted it, and this is not my problem. Please don't write me off as a kook. I am serious about the advice I am seeking.

What I need to know is if it's possible to have my pet (dead, of course— buried with me. If not in the same casket, could she be in an adjoining box?

I have a cat who has been my faithful companion for 15 years. We have been through all sorts of crises together. She is my best friend.

I an drawing up a will and I'm afraid no one would take care of her properly after I am gone. I also feel she will miss me terribly. I am considering a clause in my will requesting that she be put to sleep when I die and asking that she be buried with me.

Please don't think this is crazy. In other cultures beloved pets were buried with their masters. Answer, please. -- C.F.

Dear C.F.: Each cemetery has its own constitution and by-laws. Some states specify that they will accommodate only human remains. Check to see if the cemetery you are considering will grant your wish. If not, scout around and find one that will.

A 15-year-old cat is equivalent to an 85- or 90-year- old human. Most veterinarians would not hesitate to put such a cat to sleep, according to two Chicago veterinarians.

My best wishes to you, dear, and I don't think you are a kook at all. You sound like a thoughtful, sensitive person.

Dear Ann: I just edited your column replying to the 14-year- old who asked how much she should tip for a burger and cold drink while shopping. Your reply was, "Any person who sits down to eat in a restaurant and is served should leave something, even if he is seated on a stool at a counter."

Does this advice go for the waitress who takes her time and acts like she's doing you a favor by taking your order, then slops the food down in front of you and ruins your appetite? I operate on the theory that tipping is a reward for good service. And please don't tell me to eat elsewhere--- this is the only restaurant in the vicinity. The other waitresses (most of them) are okay, and they get tipped. ——Editor Who Has To Eat Out.

Dear Ed: A tip is the customer's way of saving "thank you for good service." No tip is the unspoken message that the service was lousy. I heartiy support both gestures.

Dear Ann Landers: Regarding that young man who wanted to break his engagement by mail after taking up three years of a girls's time. You called him "gutless" and said the least he could do was to have the decency to break it off in person.

What about a girl who takes up three years of a man's time, is treated to expensive dinners, plays, concerts, is driven everywhere she wants to go, accepts gifts and finally helps him select a beautiful diamond ring? Two and a half months before the wedding, SHE calls it off by phone and keeps the ring.

The guy probably got off lucky at that. Think of what life would be like married to such a gold-digger. The point of this letter is to remind people that sometimes it's the girl who's the rat.-- Bay City Reader.

Dear Bay: In most states, the male is entitled to the ring when the girl breaks the engagement. If you're the guy who got dumped you ought to check with a lawyer.

Indians topple Matthews

NEW MADRID — Coach Carroll Compton's NMHS Indians recorded the first upset of the NMC tournament here Tuesday night when they edged the third seeded Matthews Pirates 59-58. Gideon eased past the Portageville Bulldogs 60-52 in the other varsity encounter while New Madrid's JV bomped Portageville 54-13.

Coach Carroll Compton's Indians employed a tight man to man defense to stiffle the usually good shooting of the Pirate crew.

Portageville enjoyed a 10-9 first period lead but Gideon used their fine balanced scoring power to tie the Bulldogs 26-26 at the half.

The key to the Bulldog victory was their ability to hold high scoring Sammy Johnson to only four points in the game.

Gideon took the game away from the Portageville Bulldogs in the third period with their defense as they allowed the Portageville crew to score only 26 points in the last two periods.

Gideon was led in scoring by Joe Murphy with 18 points. Tim Grable hit 15 for Portageville.

The Matthews Pirates couldn't hold off a last period onslaught by the NMHS Indians and fell from the tournament.

Matthews jumped out in front 22-15 after one period of play and added another point to their lead in the second quarter.

The Indians defense took charge in the third quarter allowing the high scoring Pirates only nine points. Matthews couldn't solve the defense in the last quarter, scoring only 10 points to 16 for the Indians.

Steve Glenn paced the Indians with 14 points. Arman Porter scored 15 for Matthews.

New Madrid made it two wins on the night by completely demolishing Portageville in the B game. Portageville didn't score in the second period and put in only two points in the second enroute to the defeat. Chris Tanner led the Indians with 16 points. Dial hit five for Portageville.

Rebs upset cats

By STUART McGHEE

BLOOMFIELD — The second night of the Stoddard County Tournament opened Tuesday night with the Richland Rebels defeating the Puxico Indians 45-39 in the junior varsity bracket. In the second game the Puxico A team made short work of the Bell City Cubs 67-42, and the final game of the night was an upset created by the Richland Rebels, beating the third seeded Dexter Bearcats 50-47.

Jim Clay led the Rebs JV to victory with 17 points for the night. This victory advanced the Rebels to the next bracket of the tournament where they will meet the winner of the Bell City - Bloomfield game played Wednesday night.

Randy Campbell was the top scorer for the Indians with 16.

In the second game the Puxico Indians had little trouble defeating the Bell City Cubs, a first quarter score of 16-5 reflected the power the Indians held over the Cubs. Puxico followed the same pattern in the second quarter scoring 21 points and allowing the Cubs only 12. Very little changed in the third quarter but the fourth quarter sided with the Cubs, gaining three points on the Indians but having very little effect.

The Smith brothers, Will and Red, pumped in 23 points for the Indians scoring 12 and 11 points respectively. Phil Stephens was the leading scorer for the Cubs with 14 points.

The third and final game was by far the most exciting of the night with the unseeded Richland Rebels upsetting the Dexter Bearcats who were seeded third in this tournament.

The first quarter of the ball game told the fans that this would be a close game to the final second. Both teams played their defense well but the Bearcats managed to get more points on the scoreboard with 11 compared to nine for the Rebels. The second quarter was a different story with the Rebels coming out on top 17-9 for a halftime score of 26-20 in favor of the Rebels. Dexter regained three points of their lost lead but still fell three points short of a tie ball game. The fourth quarter came out even with each team scoring 12 points. SHS record falls to 4-8

POPLAR BLUFF-- The Sikeston Bulldogs kept their tournament record intact with an undistinguished 80-70 loss here Tuesday night at the hands of the Kennett Indians. The loss, Sikeston's third straight this year to Kennett dropped the SHS record to 4- 8. The night's action was highlighted by the Twin Rivers Royals' 64- 63 upset of the third seeded host.

Ron Marks, enjoying his best night of the year, connected for 21 points. Roger Tillman followed with 18, but missed 16 inside shots in the game. Roy Bowman was the other Bulldog in double figures. He, however, was held well below his season's average and ended with 15 points.

Robert Roundtree again led Kennett scoring; The 6-foot tall sophomore center scored 19 points, giving him 70 points in three games again the hapless Bulldogs as Sikeston coach McDaniel could never find anyone who could stop him. Ben McCracken suffered an off shooting night, but counted on seven fourth- quarter free throws to hike his final output to 17 points. Terry Shands came off the bench to score 14 points, and Chris Miltonberger combined with McCracken to give Kennett something Sikeston has lacked all year- ACCURATE outcourt shooting.

Dividing the game in quarters or sections would do no good in analizing the contest. Kennett controlled the contest from the outset and proved undeniably that they were the superior team. Despite the fact that the Indians didn't start a man over six feet tall, they outrebounded Sikeston 37-33. A 6- foot 3 sophomore Mark Eaves led Sikeston with eight rebounds. Roundtree grabbed nine rebounds, and three teammates had eight.

Bulldogs, besides Marks, enjoying a good night were Bruce Lawrence, a starter at guard, and Eaves. Steve Jones hit all three shots he took, but two of those were on followup shots as Sikeston still wasn't as unselfish with the ball as they will have to be to win.

With the tournament continuing the rest of this week, the Bulldogs will still be inactive. They take to the Tartan floor of the fieldhouse Saturday night against tall and talented West Plains. West Plains, a victor over Poplar Bluff earlier in the year has a frontline that includes two 6- 5s and a center 6- foot- 8.

It just wasn't a night for the favorites all over Southeast Missouri and the host Poplar Bluff Mules were numbered among the victims. The Mules played pitifully while falling before the Twin Rivers Royals, 64- 63. Poplar Bluff, who had beaten Twin Rivers previously this season, was seeded third in the tourney.

The aggressive Royals took the play right to the heavily- favored Mules and proved to be more than a match for coach Jim King's cagers. Aggressive heads up play by the smaller Royals enabled them to block PBHS off the boards and steal the ball time after time, while building up a twelve point, 39- 27 halftime lead.

The Mules used their inside game more often and more effectively in the third period, but they still trailed entering the last period, 52-42.

The Roayls froze for a moment in that final frame. They probably realized what they were about to accomplish and tensed up. The late Mules charge kept the fourth quarter difference under three points most of the period, but late free throws by Mike Allison eventually spelled the difference in the game.

Allison led Poplar Bluff with 20 points. Bruce Dameworth had 21 for the Mules.

Bullpups split with Jackson

The Sikeston eighth and ninth grades divided a pair of games with the Jackson Indians here Tuesday afternoon as coach Mike Foster's eighth grade won 41-32 and Asa Kinnaman's ninth graders took a 41- 28 loss.

The eighth graders pushed their season record to 6- 2 with the win. Steve Sims was the high scorer with 14 points.

Sikeston scored 12 points in each of the first three periods and fell off to five in the fourth quarter. Jackson had shooting difficulties and scored double figures in only the third period in taking the loss.

Asa Kinnaman's freshmen had goose egg in the first quarter and just couldn't find the range in the entire game and Jackson had an easy time winning. No Bulldogs hit in double figures for the game. Gilbow was high with eight points. The freshmen record is 3- 4.

Braves down EPHS

EAST PRAIRIE--- The little Scott Central Braves, which seem to be everywhere at the same time, used their magic to edge the EPHS Eagles of coach Steve Doran 81- 80 here Tuesday night in a Scott- Mississippi conference game.

The Eagles had beaten the Braves last week in the Scott-Miss. tourney rather easily but just couldn't stave off coach Ronnie Cookson's five as the Eagles blew a 62- 58 lead at the end of three periods.

Scott Central burst out in front in the opening period with hot shooting and ball hawking defense 23- 16 behind the shooting of Kenny Bright and Paul McRoberts.

Leroy Bradley and Steve Husk found the range and the second period turned into an exchange of baskets as the Eagles came roaring back, outscoring the Braves 25- 20 and trailed 43- 41 at the half.

EPHS took command in the third period as Don Dixon picked up the scoring and the Eagles forged ahead by four going into the final period.

Scott Central continued to press and force mistakes by the Eagles and outscored the Eagles by five points in the period to win the game.

Bradley scored 31, Husk 24, and Dixon added 17 for the EPHS Eagles. Bright hit 25, McRoberts 22, Robert Cook 15, and Danny Peet scored 12 for the Braves.

Construction plans announced by Caruthersville City Council

CARUTHERSVILLE — Plans to enlarge the municipal building and add needed parking spaces near the present parking lot at the building have been announced by the City Council.

The city's consulting firm, Buescer- Frankenberg, presented tentative plans and was authorized to produce final plans on the projects.

The added space at the city hall would be to the north of the present council chambers, reaching to the sidewalk at the parking lot. The new area would be used as a city courtroom and would double as the council meeting room.

Offices for city clerks and secretaries would be made from the present council room, which would be divided into two large offices.

The new addition will be approximately 1,000 square feet in size and will match as closely as possible the construction of the present building.

Added parking space will be obtained by building a new parking area south of the present lot and east of the municipal building. The lot will hold 14 cars and will be entered from the present lot rather than from Carleton Avenue.

The cost f the new parking area is estimated at between $2,000 and $3,000. No estimate on the building additon has been announced.

Chaffee chamber to make monthly tours

CHAFFEE — The Chaffee Chamber of Commerce has decided to meet the third Monday of each month at Brook's Inn for a dinner meeting and voted to have a monthly tour for members of an industry or business in Chaffee.

Jack T. Burnett reported that work on replacing the "Welcome to Chaffee" sign at the intersection of Highway 77 and Helen Avenue will begin as soon as weather permits. He also reported that contributions of merchants paid the complete cost of the community Christmas celebration directed by the Jaycees and financed by the chamber.

Burnett was named chairman of the membership drive to sign up the 101 businesses and professional persons in Chaffee.

The chamber learned that its efforts to have a caution light installed on the highway at the Florsheim Shoe Co. plant have been unsuccessful. The chamber owns and maintains a parking lot for employes at the plant, but the lot is located across the highway from the plant and workers have experienced difficulties in crossing the highway to the plant.

Dan Bollinger, chamber president, said the State Highway Department office at Sikeston reported it had made a survey and determined that a caution light wasn't needed. He said the chamber will pursue the matter further.

MIND CONTROL® & ESP

A WAY TO USE YOUR MIND BETTER

One of the reports that won admittance of the Parapsychological Association to the American Association for the Advancement of Science was one stating: "That corporate executives using ESP and involving millions of dollars doubled their company's money." SILVA MIND CONTROL courses have had tremendous success throughout the nation in teaching practical applications of controlled ESP. This is the first and only method in history known to be effective in developing controlled ESP.

The "Silva Method" as it is known was scientifically researched by Jose Silva, a research scientist in Laredo, Texas, and a pioneer in mental training and research in brain waves. Mr. Silva states, "The discovery that Human Intelligence can learn to control brain waves and function with awareness at the Alpha and Theta frequencies of the brain will go down in history as the greatest discovery of man."

Silva says that we somehow have unconsciously learned to interfere, allowing the body's healing function and this effect is known as the psychosomatic health problems. It appears that by learning to function with awareness at the Alpha/Theta levels we automatically cease to interfere, allowing the body's internal organs and glands to return to their natural rhythmic self-heating function.

"We don't need to teach the internal organs how to function. Nature takes care of that when we do not interfere. The Silva Method is dedicated to help humans become healthier, more productive and better problem- solvers.

"Our students report better memory, high grades, less tension and anxiety, faster healing, release and rejection of Psychosomatic problems, control of sleep and headaches, control of smoking, weight and even correction of drug habits, and also maintenance of better general health."

A WAY TO DEVELOP AND USE ESP

Mr. Silva adds that these abilities are just side benefits and that the real benefit is that the student when at these levels seems to sense information impressed on the brain cells of others. This is what some call ESP or Extra Sensory Perception, but Silva calls it Subjective Communications.

The MIND CONTROL program has changed the meaning of ESP which was uncontrolled, erratic and very evasive to Subjective Communications which are controlled and effective. Silva suggests that perfecting the means to communicate at this dimension will be the second phase of human evolution on this planet.

You can now have an added tool to obtain information, to use your mind more effectively, and become more successful.

MIND CONTROL is a course inliving - to put mind and body together for better living.

'WOMAN LAWYER' is how Jill Wine Vollner does not like to hear herself described. She prefers simply 'attorney.' Assistant special prosecutor in the Watergate proceedings before Judge John Sirica in Washington, she played a key role in questioning Rose Mary Woods, President Nixon's private secretary.

New abortion bill questioned

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A bill to restrict abortions in Missouri to the fullest extent allowed by the U.S. Constitution raised questions in the House Judiciary Committee about whether it is constitutional.

Witnesses for and against the bill differed on its chances to pass a Supreme Court test and on its need in hearings that lasted until nearly 2 a.m. today.

The bill would allow abortions in the first trimester of pregnancy only with the consent of the mother and father (if known), and would require them to be performed in "health facilities" after a 48 hour waiting period. Live babies resulting from abortions would become wards of the state, and parents would lose their rights over such children if they agreed to abortions.

If the mother was under age 18 and unmarried, her parents would have to consent. The health facility could be a doctor's office or a clinic. The bill would ban saline abortions.

The bill's sponsor, Rep. William O'Toole, D-St. Louis, said the bill "would pass muster" of a constitutional test. Other witnesses disagreed.

The bill contains an emergency clause that would make it law after legislative passage and the governor's signature.

O'Toole said the bill would not harass mothers seeking abortions. He said in the last two trimesters of pregnancy, abortions could only be performed if the "maternal health of the mother" was endangered.

A co-sponsor of the bill, Rep. Clifford Gannon, D-De Soto, said, "If we think we are in a sick society today ... if we let this abortion in Missouri go without control, we'll have a much sicker society." The state has no abortion statute now.

Representatives of Missouri Right-To-Life groups also spoke in favor of the bill.

An opponent of the bill, Frank Sussman, St. Louis attorney, said "this is the most poorly written bill I have ever seen that may face a constitutional challenge."

He said regulations on the first trimester of pregnancy abortions were unconstitutional, and the bill indirectly "thwarts mothers' freedom of choice."

He said one section of the bill which would make babies surviving abortions wards of the state violated five of the 12 amendments in the Bill of Rights.

Sussman said an unmarried woman over age 18 could be denied even a lifesaving abortion by lack of the partner father's consent, under the bill.

He said the bill puts too much legislative regulation over the medical profession.

Speaking for the bill was a St. Louis pediatrician, Dr. Paul Byrne, who said life starts at conception and "By 11 weeks, the fetus is a functioning individual."

The committee took no action.

House will continue reorganization debate

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri House was to continue debate today on a bill to reorganize the executive branch of state government.

The bill was explained on the House floor Tuesday by Rep. Joe Holt, D-Fulton. An amendment was beaten 78-76 to set the location of the Missouri Institute of Psychiatry into law.

Several St. Louis area representatives argued for the amendment, saying MIP employes in St. Louis are fearful they will lose their jobs because of a plan to relocate the Institute.

The MIP has been a center of controversy since the University of Missouri decided not to renew a contract to operate it for the state Division of Mental Health.

Holt argued in favor of flexibility, saying the university would not be "locked in" to the St. Louis location.

Under the House reorganization proposal, MIP's research would go to the University of Missouri and the non-university personnel and the computers would be under the jurisdiction of the Mental Health Division.

The House substitute bill includes some provisions of the Senate measure, but generally gives more authority to department heads and has fewer instances of Senate consent for appointees under the department level.

The governor and other elected officials would get pay raises under an amendment tacked onto the bill Tuesday. It would set the governor's salary at $40,000, lieutenant governor at $20,000 and the attorney general, treasurer and secretary of state at $35,000 apiece.

single or delaying marriage than was the case formerly, adding to the live- alone total.

Among the older people, too, it is no longer common, as it was years ago, for parents to move in with their married children when widowed. Three- generation households are a rarity these days.

The net result, in Scott County, is that the number of one- person households has reached 1,918, a marked increase over 1960, when the total was 1,359.

Insurance qualification is sought

CARUTHERSVILLE— Renewed efforts to get Pemiscot County qualified for government subsidized flood insurance are being made by county and local officials and insurance representatives.

A meeting was held by the County Court Monday morning which involved members of the Corps of Engineers, representatives of the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission and the Missouri Water Resources Board, city officials and insurance and financing representatives.

"The residents of Caruthersville could possibly be eligible for this flood insurance in as little as three weeks," said Lee DeAtley, a representative for the Missouri Water Resources Board.

"As the city already has zoning and building codes in force, there are just a few more things needed and then the insurance may be sold to property owners in town. The county will require a little more time to be qualified," DeAtley continued, "with as few as four to six weeks being needed for it to meet the requirements."

The county will have to set up zoning and building codes and have a building inspector who will sell building permits for construction to be done in the county. A study will also have to be made of the entire county to determine the areas most likely to be flooded due to their being "low areas."

A similar meeting was held on March 5 last year. Local insurance representatives asked DeAtley to come and discuss the requirements for the county to be eligible for flood insurance.

At the time little more was done on the matter as the city was tied up in fighting the worst flood to hit the city in years.

"The federal government has plans to stop all flood damage assistance after 1975, so flood insurance will be a must for all property owners in low lying areas," DeAtley said.

Don Crawford, a Corps of Engineers representative, said his office would help the county in any way possible as this program is a necessity for all counties near rivers or in other flood- prone areas.

COOKING-UP

EAST PRAIRIE — Recipes featured in this week's Cooking-Up Column are a few of the favorites of the Jim Bishop family of Dogwood.

Mrs. Bishop writes the Dogwood Column for the East Prairie Eagle and the Charleston Enterprise- Courier newspapers, and she is employed part-time at the Eagle office. Her husband Jim is a farmer, and they are the parents of two daughters, Susan Bishop, a senior at East Prairie High School, and Mrs. Rick Cobb of Lake Wales, Fla. The family attenda Concordia Lutheran Church at Sikeston.

Many of her recipes are sent to her by readers; others she has clipped from magazines and newspapers. The Taste Festival at her church each year also provides new and different recipes.

Mrs. Bishop calls this recipe "Tom's Banana Loaf", since she bakes it quite often for a neighbor youth, Tom Lingle, who has muscular dystrophy.

TOM'S BANANA LOAF

Mix: 2½ cups flour
1 2/3 cups sugar
1¼ tsp. baking powder
1¼ tsp. soda
1 tsp. salt
2/3 cup shortening
2/3 cup buttermilk
3 or 4 mashed bananas
2 large eggs

Beat with mixer until well mixed. Fold in nuts, if desired, and bake at 350 degrees until golden brown and done to the touch.

This banana loaf is good plain or sliced in two and topped with bananas and frosty icing.

BANANA SPLIT CAKE

Bottom layer:
1 stick melted margarine
½ cup powdered sugar
2 cups vanilla wafer crumbs

Stir. Pack down in bottom of long cake pan. Use glass pan; it looks pretty when completed.

Second layer:
2 egg whites (unbeaten)
1 stick oleo at room temperature
2 cups powdered sugar

Beat for 10 minutes (time yourself as this can seem like a long time). Spread over first layer.

Third layer: large can drained crushed pineapple. Three bananas sliced lengthwise. Spread bananas over cake and cover with pineapple; then top with one box of whipped cream, sprinkle with nuts and freeze for 15 minutes. Delicious, but rich.

This cake is a "Quickie" but one of the Bishop favorites.

MIRACLE WHIP CAKE

2 cups flour
1 cup sugar
dash salt
4 tbsp. cocoa
1 cup salad dressing
1 cup hot water
1 tsp. vanilla

Sift together. Make hole in center. Add salad dressing, hot water and vanilla.

Stir and bake at 325 or 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes or until done to the touch.

This is delicious when topped with the accompanying frosting, which is so quick and easy to prepare that your cake is complete in just a short time.

BEAT AND EAT FROSTING

1 egg white, unbeaten
¼ tsp. cream of tartar
3/4 cup sugar
¼ cup boiling water
1 tsp. vanilla.

Put egg whites, sugar, cream of tartar and vanilla in small deep bowl and mix well. Add boiling water. Beat at high speed on mixer to stiff peaks.

Will fill and frost two 8-inch layers. Sprinkle with coconut if desired.

This recipe for chocolate pie belongs to a brother-in-law, James F. Smith, and it will make two pies.

CHOCOLATE PIE

3 cups sugar
6 tbsp. cocoa
6 tbsp. flour or cornstarch
6 egg yellows
1 stick margarine
3 cups milk (1¼ milk and 1¼ evaporated)

Combine and cook until thickened.

Add level teaspoon vanilla and pour into baked pie shells. Top with meringue or whipped topping. Tastes almost like fudge candy.

MEAT LOAF

1½ lb. hamburger
1 beaten egg
1 medium chopped onion
¼ tsp. pepper
1 cup bread crumbs
1¼ tsp. salt
½ cut tomato sauce

Lightly mix ingredients and form loaf. Place in loaf pan or skillet (she prefers a skillet) and top with the following sauce:
½ can tomato sauce
1 cup water
2 tbsp. mustard
2 tsp. brown sugar

Mix well, pour over meat and bake at 350 degrees for about 1¼ hours.

This recipe is one of her husband's favorites and when she fixes it, it is sometimes served with a salad and is delicious eaten with crackers..

CHEESE SOUFFLE

1 cup scalded milk
1 cup bread crumbs (fresh bread), trim crust off if desired
½ cup grated snappy cheese (cheddar)
1 tbsp. butter
3 egg yolks, beaten well
½ tsp. salt

Put butter in milk as it is scalding. Then mix all ingredients together; add to well beaten egg yolks. Put in greased baking dish and bake for about 20 minutes at 325-350 degrees. One can tell by looking when it is done. Sprinkle bacon bits on top for meat flavor.

Since Christmas candy-making has just passed, this recipe was put to good and frequent use by Mrs. Bishop. It is quite delicious and almost "never fail" fudge.

FUDGE

2 cups sugar
2/3 cup evaporated milk
12 regular marshamllows
Salt to taste
½ cup margarine
6 oz. pkg. chocolate chips
1 cup chopped nuts
1 tsp. vanilla

Mix sugar, milk, marshmallows and margarine in heavy pan.

Cook, stirring constantly, over medium heat to a boil (mixture will be bubbling all over top). Boil and stir five minutes more (time carefully).

Take off heat and stir in chocolate chips until completely melted, then add chopped nuts and vanilla.

Spread in a buttered pan. As soon as the chips are melted and nuts added, this will be ready to pour right into the pan for creamy, delicious eating.

Q. What's the name of this meat cut?
A. Smoked picnic shoulder.
Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?
A. It comes from the pork shoulder and includes the arm section and part of the fore shank.

Q. How is it prepared?
A. By roasting (baking) or cooking in liquid. To roast, place on a rack in an open, shallow pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so it reaches the center of the thickest part, making sure the bulb does not rest either in fat or on bone. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325°F.) until the meat thermometer reaches 170°F. Allow 35 minutes per pound for roasting. Smoked picnic shoulder ranges in weight from five to eight pounds which means the total cooking time ranges from three to four and one-half hours.

I was just reading an article in one of the ladies magazines about "Noted Women Remember Their Favorite Childhood Toys", and I came to the conclusion that I must not be noted woman material because I definitely didn't have the same childhood tastes these ladies did. Ninety per cent of these girls (and most of them, according to this article which I must admit I took with a grain of salt), had a doll or stuffed animal which was their favorite, and quite a few of them still have some object displayed somewhere in their bedroom, or other niche to this very day. Ugh — I never could make it with dolls, my mother adored them and so we had plenty of them around the house for me to become acquainted with, but somehow a rubber baby that closed its eyes when you laid it down, or cried "ma-ma" when you squeezed its tummy, or wet a diaper when you fed it with a bottle, somehow, that all just left me cold. To be honest, I also thought the Mongoloid expressions on most baby dolls faces had something to do with their being so distasteful to me — isn't there any such thing as a sweet looking new born baby doll? Anyway, if I ever get to be a noted woman and they ask me what I liked the best in my childhood, I think I would have to say climbing a big ole magnolia tree across the street from my house with a piece of kindling stuck between my teeth (I was either Tarzan or Errol Flynn, depended on that Saturday's matinee). Then, I had a gorgeous six shooter that looked just like the real thing Gene Autry (my best hero), used to shoot the bad man with after which he always broke into song & rode away into the sunset leaving my little heart pitter pattering right after him. Another favorite pastime of mine was collecting bugs and putting them in labeled jars and for a penny the other kids could come to the zoo. For example grasshoppers were kangaroos, lighting bugs were electric eels (it was sort of an aquarium type zoo), big beetles were hippos, and I'll never forget the day I found two stink bugs enjoying life to the fullest, but when I proudly showed my Siamese twin ant eaters to mother, they were quickly snatched out of that days display, (I have since noted that stink bugs and dragon flys must have an over abundance of hormones as they are constantly displaying their affections right before the general public and without the least show of embarrassment). I guess about the only dolls I ever really took any delight in were the hollyhock dolls we kids made ourselves, and we could hardly wait for those lovely stalks to bloom in our back alley so we could tear off the blossoms and buds, and see who could make the most flamboyant lady. If I remember correctly, (and I seldom do anymore, must be my age), we took the full blown blossom, stuck a toothpick through its center and turned it upside down — viola, a Southern belle's full skirt; then, you took a partly opened bloom, stuck it upside down on the other half of the toothpick, tore away two little green leafs at its base and you discovered eyes and nose and a lovely frilly hairdo above like Madam Pompadour use to flaunt. Then, take two fairly tight buds, stick a toothpick through the top of the skirt, and on each side push these buds and the lady had instant arms and was she gorgeous, she was and what was even better was you had given birth to her yourself. Oh well, I'll end my childhood reminences and I'd best get busy tending to the two I actually did turn out myself, but, do you think this could be why I'll never make the noted women's list?

Lettuce Wedges with Pourable Dressings

A crisp wedge of western iceberg lettuce and a homemade pourable dressing made from real mayonnaise is the most typical of all American salads. From the Best Foods test kitchens the suggestion is made that you thin Hellmann's real mayonnaise with practically any liquid you wish to the consistency your family likes. It can be milk, fruit juice, chili sauce, citrus juices, or even a combination of wine vinegar and water. The idea is to make it to suit your own taste by thinning and adding spices and herbs. Here we suggest a hot and spicy pourable dressing.

Hot and Spicy Dressing

½ cup chili sauce
1 teaspoon soy sauce
⅛ teaspoon grated onion
⅛ teaspoon tabasco sauce
1 cup real mayonnaise
½ cup milk

Mix chili sauce, soy sauce, onion, tabasco sauce, mayonnaise and milk. Chill. Serve with lettuce wedges or on meat and fish salads. Makes about 1¾ cups.

VALENCIA, Calif. (AP) — A 1912 classic carousel that operated 50 years at the Savin Rock Amusement Park, West Haven, Conn., is now located at Magic Mountain, an amusement park near Los Angeles. When new, the carousel sold for $15,000. Magic Mountain paid more than $200,000 to have it restored.

International coffees to be distributed locally

The Maxwell House Coffee Division of General Foods Corp. will soon introduce three types of international coffee into the Sikeston area.

The coffees — Cafe Au Lait, Suisse Mocha and Cafe Vienna — will be distributed by Malone and Hyde, Inc. of Sikeston.

Cafe Au Lait is a French coffee favorite with creme flavoring, Suisse Mocha is a Swiss coffee with chocolate and Cafe Vienna is a Hungarian coffee blend with spices.

The new coffees are being introduced to appeal to the younger segments of the beverage market, according to Kent Wells of Cape Girardeau, a General Foods representative.

Wells said young people do not seem to like the flavor of coffee and purchase other beverages instead. He said the internationally flavored coffees are an attempt to win them over to coffee drinking.

Gasoline prices continue to soar

NEW YORK (AP) — Gasoline prices are literally climbing out of sight on thousands of service station pumps across the country.

About 200,000 of them, 15 per cent of the nation's 1.3 million gasoline pumps, cannot count beyond the rate of 49.9 cents a gallon. The rest, manufactured in recent years, go up to 99.9 cents.

Gasoline prices are reaching and passing 50 cents a gallon because of the energy crisis. The Oil & Gas Journal, a major industry trade publication, reported that the average price of nonpremium gasoline in 52 cities across the country was 45.28 cents on Jan. 8.

The problem is compounded by the size of gasoline tanks in American cars. Many can hold more than 20 gallons. A pump that counts at a maximum 49.9 cents a gallon hits a roadblock when 20 gallons are pumped. The total sales dial registers $9.99 and it can't go any higher.

What are station operators doing about it?

Many have decided to replace the computing mechanisms in their pumps to make them work for prices up to 99.9 cents a gallon and four-digit totals. It's a conversion that costs about $150 a pump. A spokesman for Veeder-Root Co. in Hartford, Conn., says orders for its 99.9-cent-a-gallon computing mechanism have increased substantially in recent months.

The National Bureau of Standards' Office of Weights and Measures has recommended that dealers post half-gallon prices, clearly indicating by signs on pumps that what a customer sees is one half of what he owes.

But the federal Office of Weights and Measures suggests that converting nearly all of the country's pumps may not be necessary, even if the price of gas does go above $1 a gallon.

Otto Warnloff, the office's manager of technical services, says that if the United States converted to the metric system of measurements — a proposal now before Congress — gas could be sold by the liter, which is one-fifth of a gallon.

"Dollar-a-gallon gas would then cost about 20 cents a liter," he said.

Mitchell attends installation

SPRINGFIELD — Among those who attended the inauguration Saturday of Layne Morrill of Kimberling City as president and installation of other state officers of the Missouri Association of Realtors was District 16 vice president Charles M. Mitchell of Sikeston.

The inaugural culminated two days of committee and director meetings at Drury Inn attended by over 300 Realtors and associates.

A NATIVE OF BUFFALO

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — New manager Danny Ozark of the Philadelphia Phillies was born in Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 26, 1923 and was originally signed into organized baseball by ex-third baseman Heinie Groh at the end of 1941. As a player, Ozark got as high as St. Paul in the Brooklyn Dodger chain.

As a corporal in Army anti-aircraft artillery in World War II, Ozark received a Purple Heart and five Bronze Stars. He took part in the Battle of Omaha and the Battle of the Bulge. He sustained fragmentation wounds in both legs but played 16 years of minor league ball before ending his playing career in one game with Omaha in 1961.

Frankly speaking

Each death in war is great loss

INTO ISRAEL -- PART II

The ramifications of war are measured not only in military statistics -- guns, tanks, airplanes -- but in human terms as well.

Israel suffered grievously in the Yom Kippur War -- 2,500 dead, 4,000 wounded and as estimated 400 POW's and MIA's.

In a small, cohesive nation of 3,200,000 people, losses of this nature and magnitude are intensely personal. It is said that "every block of every city of Israel suffered a loss." I visited a kibbutz of 500 residents to which four young Israeli soldiers were returned in coffins. Each resident felt that loss as his own.

Thus, the mood in Israel is somber, serious, and concerned. It is not, however, a mood of desperation or despondency. The people of Israel know there are difficult days ahead and they are prepared to face them.

ECONOMIC IMPACT

200,000 reservists were called and remain on active duty today. They represent all walks of life -- teachers, lawyers, businessmen, construction workers. As a result, the Israeli economy has been handicapped, but not crippled. Essential services are performed and expeditiously so. But one cannot ignore or minimize the economic impact of the Yom Kippur War.

In light of this economic impact as well as the loss of substantial military equipment, President Nixon recommended and Congress approved $2.2 billion in aid to Israel. To have refused this to Israel at the time that the Soviet Union was massively resupplying Egypt and Syria would have been tantamount to signing Israel's death warrant. Stability will never come to the Middle East if the Arab nations perceive Israel as militarily weak.

The Israeli government, headed by Premier Golda Meir, was somewhat weakened by a reduced mandate from the electorate in the year- end elections, but it still approaches the Geneva talks with a strong desire for peace and a cautious determination that it will not be "sold out."

They understand that the simple act of signing a document with high- sounding words will not insure real peace. At Geneva Israel will insist on tangible guarantees and protective arrangements which will be living, identifiable insurance of her existence as a free and sovereign nation.

MANY ISSUES

Many contentious issues divide Israel and its Arab neighbors. The Golan Heights, the Sinai, the West Bank of the Jordan, Sharen- el- Sheik, access to the Suez Canal and the Red Sea, the Gaza Strip, the Palestinian refugees, Jerusalem -- these will all be points of tough negotiations. Any one of these emotional issues could stall or completely void the search for permanent peace.

All the major points of contention are vexing. All are acerbic. But the toughest of all is Jerusalem.

I spent two days there meeting with military and political leaders. It is perhaps the most breathtaking, awe-inspiring city I've ever visited.

Three great religious cultures merge in Old Jerusalem: the Wailing Wall sacred to Jews -- the El Aktza Mosque, second in significance only to Mecca in terms of the Moslem faith - and the Church of the Holy Sepulcher and Mt. Calvary, sacred to Christians. Jerusalem, the holiest of the holy, the well- spring of religion and the birthplace of modern civilization, as in the past, is the focal point for what can easily be described as a holy war.

NO JERUSALEM SURRENDER

Israelis, like Americans, are outspoken and do not always agree. The recent election -- a true testimonial to democracy in a time of trouble -- demonstrated this. But on one issue the Israelis speak with one, unequivocal voice -- Jerusalem will never be surrendered to outside control.

The Israelis do guarantee free access to Jerusalem to people of all faiths. Thousands of Arabs and Christians enter the city daily. But never again, the unified and determined Israeli voices say, will Jerusalem be under the political control of an outside power.

The Geneva Conference has difficult, divisive days ahead. The slow road to peace is always more difficult than the rush to war. On this road, Jerusalem stands out as the most unreconcilable issue of all.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Jan18, 1974

Daily Sikeston Standard,

Dear Mr. Blanton.

I don't know if you will see fit, or have room to print my letter or not.

But there is something on my mind, that I would like for the public to know how we feel.

There has been some critisim of our Hospital Mo. Delta in Sikeston, that I don't feel has done it justice.

My husband has been in your or our rather Hospital 5 times since March of '73 and I don't think without his good care, he rec'd from his good doctor's, nurses, and including all the staff that it takes to run a Hopital, He would never have made it, That also includes the House Keepers, Kitchen help, and the snack bar help were just great to me, So all we have is praise for the Hospital and Thank God every day for it.

I have a sister and sister-in-law that work's there and I am very proud of them. For the job they are doing. It takes every one working together. And the intensive care unit I'm so thankful for. I know a lot of people had a part in making it what it is, the good nurses, and doctor's, and I feel like my Dr. (Dr. Carl Popp) has spent a lot of hours, and hardwork getting it where it is.

I spent 4½ months in there after a car wreck in 1968 and no one could have been treated better, So I know the administration is doing a fine job. Thank you, and may we ever have our good hospital.

Dorothy Yount
Oran, Mo.

P.S. If you can't print this I will understand for I have never written a letter to the paper before and mayby my wording isnt right, or my letter to long.

January 14, 1974

Dear Editor:

The Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare recently confirmed that approximately 138,000 individuals on our Social Security or Welfare rolls are not citizens of the United States. These foreigners help to make up the 29,000,000 on our welfare rolls.

Our citizenry is not generally aware of this type of "foreign aid", and I am sure it would not be approved by them if they could get any action by their representatives in Congress.

Sincerely,
C. C. Moseley

Dear Charlie:

Thank you so very much for your fine editorial in your paper of Jan. 18, in regards to the space programs. We have three sons Larry, Wendell and Tommy, that are connected with the space program and so, of course we understand much better than many, what an important part the space activities play in our present and future lives. I find it hard to explain, to friends and relatives, that it is really helpful to mankind. My biggest point, outside of the benefits, is that it does give many men and women work and they in turn spend the money in our great U.S.A. and not overseas where it certainly seems to be anything but appreciated. You said, in a few well chosen paragraphs, what I have tried to express so very long and wasn't successful. We are sending copies of this article to our sons and one for the Jet Propulsion Lab. at Pasadena, Calif. for their bulletin board. So thank you for that enlightening editorial.

Yours truly,
Mr. & Mrs. Bill Shain

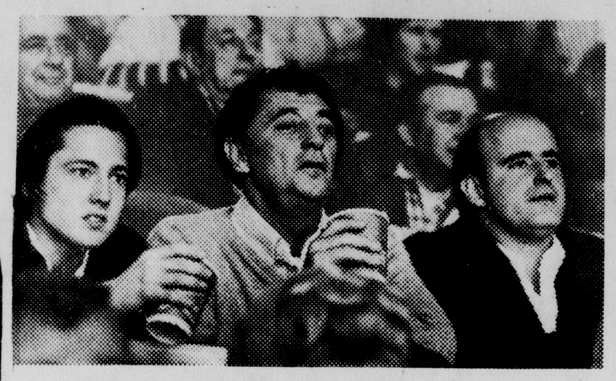
Mitchum stars in new release



'Friends' view game

Robert Mitchum, center; Peter Boyle, right; and Michael McCreery watch a hockey match, unaware of an impending murder in the movie, "The Friends of Eddie Coyle." The Paul Monash production was directed by Peter Yates from Monash's screenplay based on the best-selling novel by George V. Higgins. The movie will open Friday at Malco Twin Cinema II.

"The Friends of Eddie Coyle," a Paramount Pictures release starring Robert Mitchum will open Friday at Malco Twin Cinema II in Midtowner Village Shopping Center.

Authentic realism, gripping entertainment and the cool toughness of crime fiction are dominant elements of the film, which is based on the best-selling novel by George V. Higgins, an assistant U.S. district attorney for the state of Massa chusetts.

When the novel was published in 1972, it was praised by the critics, but what attracted both writer-producer Paul Monash and director Peter Yates to the property was not just its gutsy story of the criminal underworld of Boston, but also its human element.

"It's a gangster film with the emphasis on people," is the way Monash describes the movie, which was filmed entirely on location in Boston.

Mitchum stars as Eddie Coyle, a tough Irish hood who wheels and deals with his "friends" on both sides of the law. It is the veteran actor's 85th film role in three decades of movie stardom. Peter Boyle, who scored nationwide attention as "Joe", co stars as Dillon, a devious bartender whose saloon is a message center for the Boston underworld.

"They'll kill anyone who gets in their way," says Monash about the underworld characters, "and they'll double-cross and murder each other for professional reasons and in a professional way."

A Canadian Football League record of six field goals in one game was set by Dave Cutter, of Edmonton.

Typical American doesn't fully understand economy

NEW YORK (AP) — There are more than a few aspects of this economy that just don't add up for the typical American, a person who doesn't easily take to numbers except when a dollar sign accompanies them.

He begs to understand, for example, why oil company profits should be at record highs simultaneously with an oil shortage, why big commercial banks should profit hugely from destructively high interest rates.

While he might be aware that the answer lies in the law of supply and demand, he is understandably skeptical about the application of that law, and wonders aloud if it isn't a tool of suppliers. Do prices ever drop?

He wonders how in the world all those corporate executives tell one audience that they expect a good year for sales and earnings and the next week tell another group of the pitfalls of an oil shortage.

Their curiosity might be satisfied somewhat in noting that the audience that gets the gray forecast of impending doom is likely to be made up of critics or regulators. The sunshine is beamed at investors and stockholders.

Even stock market analysts are somewhat fascinated by some of their brethren who talk about the coming decline in corporate profits, about the recession just around the corner, and then forecast rising stock prices.

Sometimes this seeming contradiction is joined in one sentence. "Specifically," said a recent speaker before the New York Society of Security Analysts, "I believe 1974 will be a year of generally declining corporate earnings and rising stock prices."

The explanation provided, almost always, is that the stock market is a barometer, not a thermometer. It anticipates conditions the day after tomorrow but it doesn't register the weather at the moment.

IRS provides tax information

ST. LOUIS — Missouri residents can call the Internal Revenue Service office in St. Louis toll-free and get answers to their income tax questions from a group of IRS employes who have been specially trained to assist taxpayers by telephone.

The toll-free number is 1-800-392-4200, and the hours to call are 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

A. W. McCanless, district director of IRS offices in Missouri, suggested that the toll-free dalls to St. Louis be made in the early morning or late afternoon hours, if possible, and preferably on days other than Monday. He said that the caller may get a busy signal during the peak hours in the middle of the day and on Monday, the busiest day.

During the filing period for 1972 returns, IRS offices in Missouri handled approximately 260,000 telephone calls, a 38 per cent increase over the number of calls in the prior year.

The St. Louis District has now expanded its telephone facilities to provide toll-free telephone information to all Missouri residents. This service will be available on a permanent basis and at any time of the year.

High water cuts road

Route P east of LaForge has been closed to traffic by high water from the Mississippi River. E. A. Acord, a farmer from Sikeston, visited the flooded area this morning to get a look at the latest worry for Bootheel farmers. The United States Weather Service office in Cairo, Ill., indicates that the current crest on the river will pass this weekend and that spring flooding is not expected to match last year's record levels.

Nixon seeks reduced tax allowances for oil

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon asked Congress today to reduce the tax breaks available to U.S. oil companies operating overseas and to ease the demands of present clean air laws.

The President sent Congress a new energy message urging passage of the emergency legislation previously proposed and adding some new proposals.

Nixon's new measure would, if adopted:

—Eliminate the 22 per cent depletion allowance granted U.S. companies producing oil abroad.

—Reduce the amount of foreign income tax which U.S. oil companies can credit directly against their taxes in the United States.

—Extend for two more years the emission standards now applying to 1975 automobiles.

—Remove the present requirement for a 90 per cent reduction in nitrogen oxide emissions in 1976 cars.

—Extend the legal deadline for meeting clean air standards in metropolitan areas which otherwise would need "unreasonable transportation controls."

—Permit temporary relaxation of clean air deadlines and requirements for power plants and other sources which cannot get an adequate supply of clean energy.

—Speed the licensing and construction of atomic power plants by encouraging standardized plant designs, establishing an inventory of approved locations for future power plants and separating the questions of site approval from reactor licensing.

Meanwhile, at the Capitol, the Senate's investigating subcommittee chaired by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., continued into a third day its hearings on the energy crisis. Executives of seven leading oil firms were witnesses.

Jackson became angry at one point when Exxon vice president Roy A. Baze was unable to provide some figures on his firm's fourth quarter earnings.

"These are just childish responses, Mr. Baze," Jackson said, adding "I guess we're going to have to start slapping subpoenas on some of you."

Jackson reported earlier that the administration is considering rolling back prices on domestic oil production.

Jackson, one of the most influential Congress members in the energy field, emerged from a meeting of Nixon and bipartisan Senate-House leaders to report a price rollback as a possibility.

The Nixon message was expected to include a proposal to tax excess profits by the oil companies, a matter of growing congressional interest.

William E. Simon, the administration's energy policy chief, was reported by Jackson to have authority to order the price rollback on new domestic oil production which the senator termed essential.

Jackson conceded legislation would be needed to cut the prices on output from stripper wells producing no more than 10 barrels a day.

Meanwhile, the controversial issues of gasoline rationing and energy conservation were taking a temporary back seat to growing congressional demands for a change in tax breaks given big oil.

"Our tax policy, instead of encouraging energy development in the U.S., has made the Arab nations self-sufficient," Jackson said Tuesday as his investigations subcommittee wound up its second day of quizzing oil companies executives on the extent of the energy crisis.

Senate Finance chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., who last month led a filibuster against emergency energy legislation because of a provision to limit excess profits by the oil industry, said he would be willing to support tax legislation that would induce the companies to turn their attention to exploration and development at home.

The emergency bill, which would give President Nixon power to order gas rationing and mandatory energy conservation measures, remained stalled by the continuing threat of a filibuster by Republicans and oil-state senators who oppose the excess profits provision. Long said he would not join the filibuster this time, but other senators vowed to stop the bill from ever coming to a vote.

Higher humidity will lower fuel bill

CHICAGO — Have you set your home thermostat down to 68 degrees yet? Are you chilly and you don't like to sit around the house in a coat? You want to save fuel (and money), but see no reason to be uncomfortable? What do you expect, a magic way to stay warm at 68?

Well, there is a way and though it's hardly magic, it works. The answer, as you may have read, is sufficient humidity. The case for adding humidity to dry indoor air in the winter has been well documented, and for many reasons.

Looking at it from the fuel-saving standpoint alone, experts estimate you can save 3 per cent on your fuel bill for every degree you lower your temperature. Cut it 4 degrees and you have saved 12 per cent, which is a nice piece of change and a real contribution in helping relieve the energy crisis.

You won't have to shiver under 70 degrees if you keep your humidity in the 40 to 45 per cent range.

Air Force studies conducted to set standards for arctic bases find that a man dressed in normal indoor clothing will be comfortable at 72 degrees with 40 per cent relative humidity; higher humidity will keep him comfortable as the temperature falls to 68 or 70 degrees.

If no moisture is added and the relative humidity falls to 6 or 8 per cent, as it may during very cold weather, it may take a temperature of 76 degrees or more to keep persons comfortable.

You prove the principle every time you swelter in summer and blame the humidity. Humid air feels warmer.

Bill Hamilton, president of Ultimatic Products and a recognized authority on humidification, recommends 35 to 50 per cent relative humidity as the indoor ideal during winter. A good humidifier should provide this and, if it has a humidistat you can check it.

You can take an approximate humidity reading without instruments. Hamilton suggests some informal tests: Walk across the rug or carpet and kiss someone. Do you feel a tiny shock of static electricity? Your relative humidity is 30 per cent or less. Open your front door, leaving the storm door closed. Does the storm door fog up in 30 seconds or less? Your humidity is around 40 per cent. Make an iced drink in an ordinary glass. Does moisture condense on the outside in a minute or less? Again, your humidity is around 40 per cent.

Lack of humidity leaves many other teltale signs for all to read as the desert- dry air sucks up moisture from any source it can — furniture, walls, paint and people. Furniture joints separate, paint cracks and persons develop respiratory ailments as the mucous membranes of the nose and throat dry out.

Only in supercold weather does Hamilton believe humidity should be somewhat less. Otherwise, there may be problems of excessive condensation on windows and, in older houses lacking vapor barriers, the moisture may go through the walls and freeze on the outside, damaging the paint.

Who's old?

Seventy- five years may seem old to a lot of people, but not to C. L. Blanton Jr., publisher of The Daily Standard. Blanton, 75 years young today, was surprised with a short birthday party at the Standard office.

County shows rise in unmarrieds living alone

Living alone and maintaining their own homes has become a way of life for more and more single people in Scott County.

These men and women-- some of them young and some of them old-- would have been living with, and dependent upon, relatives in former years.

Now, however, attitudes and conditions are different and people are able to satisfy the secret urge that many of them have had to be on their own.

They find that they can get jobs and earn enough, often aided by social security, pensions or family assistance, to swing it financially.

In Scott County, according to the latest government figures, the proportion of local housing units occupied by singles is now 18.1 per cent. In 1960 it was 14.2 per cent.

Elsewhere in the United States the ratio is 20.2 per cent. It is 20.7 per cent in the West North Central States and 21.1 per cent in the State of Missouri.

Of the 66.7 million households in the nation last year, 13.5 million were occupied by singles, reports the Department of Commerce. It was 71 per cent more than in 1960.

By way of comparison, the proportion of dwelling units occupied by singles increased four times faster in the period than did those occupied by two or more persons.

Most of the surge is attributed to young people. Because of the greater freedom they have acquired in the last decade or so there has been a growing tendency on their part to have their own living quarters away from the parental home.

Also, more men and women under 35 are staying

Corps of Engineers sets up flood center

MEMPHIS, Tenn.— Col. A. C. Lehman, district engineer, announced today that the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers has set up an Emergency Operations Center in the Clifford Davis Federal Building at Memphis to minitor high- water conditions now occurring on the Lower Mississippi River.

Should it become necessary, mobilization of Memphis District employes for flood fight operations will be ordered by the district engineer. Mobilization is normally implemented in two phases.

Phase one, the current condition which is now going into effect along the west bank of the Mississippi River from Cape Girardeau, Missouri, to the Missouri-Arkansas state line and along the east bank of West Kentucky and West Tennessee, consists generally of detailing adequate forces to observe conditions of levees, structures and caving banks and alerting all district personnel concerned with flood fighting operations.

Phase two, should conditions worsen, will call for the actual mobilization of forces for flood fight operations. Initially, skeleton forces are mobilized as rapidly as possible. This is followed by an expansion of these forces to the strength required by the situation.

Authorization for Corps of Engineers participation in flood fighting operations is contained in the Flood Control Acts of 1928, 1936, 1941, 1946, 1948, 1950 and 1962; Public Law 99, approved June 28, 1955; and the Disaster Relief Act of 1970.

Basically, corps work in the emergency situation will be performed as prescribed by Public Law 99, which authorizes the expenditure of federal funds for flood emergency preparation, flood fighting rescue operations and the repair or restoration of any flood control work threatened or destroyed by flood. This includes strengthening, raising, extending or other modifications which may become necessary for the adequate functioning of the flood control works.

In connection with rescue operations, this mobilization also includes the acquisition of any vehicles which may be necessary.

The telephone number at the Memphis Emergency Operations Center is 901-534- 3401.

Low-lying land under water

I noticed that the election board in St. Louis is having an argument with Secretary of State, James Kirkpatrick. They want an open Primary election. I don't know what it means, but I guess it means that you can vote for either a candidate that's a Republican or a candidate that's a Democrat, and who ever gets the most votes would be the candidate. I am for Bro. Kirkpatrick, I know that he is smart enough about this election business that he don't want the election board of St. Louis to mess him around or to invalidate a state wide election.

American Security Council comments in a recent bulletin:

"The Arab oil embargo has put us into a real energy crunch.

"Yet, the Arabs would not even have considered such action against the United States if we still had military superiority over the Soviet Union.

"Since the Soviets are now ahead of us militarily, they encouraged the Arabs to cut off our oil and assured them that Russia's backing would guarantee that the United States could not force the Arabs to live up to their oil contracts.

"This is only the beginning of the cost to us of becoming the second- best military power.

"And, it may get even worse because the Members of Congress for Peace Through Law, an organization devoted to cutting our defense budget, boasts that it now has 141 members who are U.S. Senators or Representatives, Members such as McGovern, Kennedy, Javits, Proxmire and Fulbright.

"The anti-defense lobby has become so powerful that it was able to get enough support to pass the War Powers bill over President Nixon's veto and to stop the U. S. air defense of Cambodia."

PLUMBING
A MYSTERY

The story is no doubt apocryphal, but one plumber is said to require his potential customers to submit their requests in writing. All entries are judged on their neatness and originality.

At any rate, plumbers are invariably cited as an example of how those offering skilled services have become the new elite in our society. Some of them earn as much as $18,000 a year — yet you can't get one to make a housecall.

Why this should be so is a mystery. After all, how many times a year — or a decade, for that matter — does the average homeowner require the services of a plumber? There aren't that many new houses being built to keep them all busy.

It's a mystery, and if plumbers know the answer, they're not telling anyone. Except maybe their doctors.

A COMING TRNED:
PROXY HAIR

You've heard of hair transplants, made famous by, among other notables, a certain senator from Wisconsin. Now there's something called hair implants.

The two are similar, but whereas transplanting involves seeding the barren male pate with one's own hair taken from another part of the head or body, implanting is done with artificial hair.

First, a surgical foundation of plastic, a webbing or netting similar to that in a tennis racket, is inserted in the scalp by a dermatologist. Then synthetic hairs, matching the color and thickness of the client's own hair, are impregnated into the webbing.

Ugh. But the entire process is relatively simple and painless since it is done under a local anesthetic.

Cost for an implant ranges from $1,000 to $1,500. But it will usually last a lifetime and is said to be the best and most permanent type of artificial hair available. However, a "checkup" once or twice a year, costing about $35 a visit, is recommended.

Ugh again. Nevertheless, "implants are definitely the coming trend in hair replacement," says Seymour Sperling, president of New York's Replacement Center, which holds the patent on the process.

"Ten years ago, when a man was bald or had thinning hair, he wouldn't even consider making a change. Today," says Sperling, "something can be done about baldness that is both socially acceptable as well as scientifically tested and men are doing it all the time."

Does he or doesn't he? Only his hair implanter — and his banker — may know for sure.

MEAT SHORTAGE MAY FORCE SHIFT TO MUSICAL FRUIT

No matter how we slice it, we will all have to go a little easy on meat for awhile. Even farmers have quit butcherin'. At least half of them don't have any critters on the farm to butcher. There's not even a chicken to chop the head off if you see unexpected company coming down the road.

Things sure have changed. Ivar Olson tells about a neighbor lady he worked for off an' on when he was a kid. She would look acrost the open prairie an' see a wagonload of relatives coming her way. Quick she scooted out to the chicken coop, grabbed a couple of hens, chopped their heads off, dressed them and had them frying in the kitchen before the team an' wagon pulled into the front yard.

With meat shortage, it's up to us to look around for some meat substitutes to supply our protein. There are quite a few of them, more in fact than there were when we were all poor. The soybeans we raise by the shipfull are excellent protein, good for man an' beast. Hungry people all over the world want our beans but we are too stuck up toeat them ourselves an' we complain when they mix a few of them with our hamburger.

But the most neglected protein substitute of all is the good old - fashioned navy bean. A couple of generations ago hardly a day would pass without the family gettin' beans in one form or another. Every woman knew how to raise them an' cook them. They were good an' they really stuck to the ribs. They was good nutrition for man, woman, an' child, especially when there was a meat shortage.

Now beans had one problem. Today the environmentalists would call it emission control. We called them windy. In fact beans were known as the musical fruit an' no bones about it.

I read in the papers about a team of scientists out on the west coast that had figured out why beans needed emission controls and they were on the point of a great discovery. They think they have a way to take the wind out of the bean. Now I ain't too sure we should spend good taxpayers' money on a project like that, but them scientists stand to make a lot of money on their invention.

Thinking back to the days in the one room country school, I feel downright sorry for the school teacher who had to cope with a bunch of big boys that were practically raised on beans an' onions. The atmosphere in the schoolhouse was so thick you could slice it when the boys decided to put on a competition. An' there was nothing the teacher could do about it unless the boys got a little careless an' added noise pollution to air pollution.

Now here is a crisis that the environmentalists have neglected. They really oughter get after the guv'ment to increase the grants for this kind of research. It will be in the nick of time if high food prices and protein shortages force us to turn from meat to beans.

During a hike in the woods a troop of boy scouts came across an abandoned section of railroad track. Each, in turn, tried walking the rails but eventually lost his balance and tumbled off.

Suddenly two of the boys, after considerable whispering, offered to bet that they could both walk the entire length of the track without falling off. Challenged to make good their boast, the two boys jumped up on opposite rails, extended a hand to balance each other, and walked the entire section of track with no difficulty whatever.

There, in a nutshell, is the principle of modern business and community living. The day of the hermit and the lone wolf are gone forever. We do things better, we produce more, and we live better by helping each other. The fellow who lends a helping hand benefits himself at the same time as he helps the other fellow.

The reverse is also true. When we don't help each other, when we don't cooperate, the whole system starts to rattle and shake.

The difference between a good company and a poor one, an effective department and an inefficient one, is often reflected in the cooperation, or lack of it, among the people who work there. When people help each other, freely and voluntarily, there's a spirit of teamwork that makes a department or company really go — a pleasure to be associated with. When there's no cooperation — no spirit of the helping hand freely given — what might have been pleasant jobs become grudging chores.

Do you recall when Edmund Hillary and his native guide, Tenzing, made their historic climb of Mt. Everest? Coming down from the peak Hillary suddenly lost his footing. Tenzing held the line taut and kept them both from falling by digging his ax into the ice. Later Tenzing refused any special credit for saving Hillary's life; he considered it a routine part of the job. As he put it: "Mountain climbers always help each other."

Should the rest of us be any different?

DIRTY WORK TO BE DONE

The Congress has the power to tax and the power to spend and that's the power that runs the country, politically. No politician in his right mind would give that up. For that reason, no one was surprised when the proposal to limit federal spending to $250 billion and give the President the authority to make cuts where he wanted to hold that ceiling was defeated.

The main point of interest is that some real concern is being voiced both in the Congress and the Executive Branch about the imperative need to gain some control over federal spending levels so that effective ceilings can be imposed and adhered to. The alternative is for the congressional money machine to keep pouring a growing pile of dollars by the billions into the economy until the lid blows off inflation and makes national bankruptcy a living experience for all of us.

The "buck" to control spending really shouldn't be passed to the President. If we the people, and our elected representatives in Congress, don't have the guts to raise taxes or cut spending to keep from bankrupting the United States, then that's all she wrote. There is really no one else in a position to do our dirty work for us.

NIXON TAPES, NEWS SOURCES NOT SAME

President Nixon, in his refusal to release the tapes of presidential conversations bearing on the Watergate investigation, is in exactly the same position as the news media when it argues that it should not be forced to reveal its sources according to a number of critics.

Were Richard Nixon a cub reporter who had written a story exposing some kind of criminal activity, it has been suggested, all the newspapers in the country would be solemnly championing his right to refuse to disclose his confidential sources to a public prosecutor on a "fishing expedition."

This is true. But if that reporter were himself suspected of involvement in some kind of criminal activity, whether before or after the fact, then any claim by him to journalistic immunity would be unsupportable and no editor would want him shielded.

This is one place where the attempted analogy falls. Another is that the purpose of protecting the confidentiality of news sources is to encourage the exposure of wrongdoing — not to cover it up; to dig up information the public would not otherwise know about, and in the end to assist the legal authorities in the performance of their duties — not to impede them.

The difference is vital.

DEFENSE ECONOMIES CAN CUT $7 BILLION

If there ever comes a day when Defense Department spokesmen inform Congress that the nation's military forces are in good shape, that they have all the weapons they will need for the foreseeable future, that there are no ominous Soviet developments on the horizon and yes, gentlement, there is a good deal of fat that could be trimmed off the defense establishment — if that day should ever come, we will know that President Nixon's promised "generation of peace" has truly arrived.

Yet despite the ending of the Vietnam war, all the talk of detente and rapprochement between East and West and hopes for the SALT disarmament negotiations, one would think we were still in the dark, early days of the Cold War when the Communist threat to world peace and freedom was first perceived.

Melvin ("Gloom- and -Doom") Laird is no longer secretary of defense, but the new secretary, James R. Schlesinger, has effectively caught up the banner of national security and rapped it across the knuckles of congressional budget- cutters, whom he accuses of indulging in "postwar follies" that would dismantle the nation's defenses.

As before, Congress will end up by giving the Pentagon pretty much what it asks for in the way of more and better weapons systems. It will because it is only common sense to err, if error it is, on the side of caution, and because it is so excruciatingly difficult to decide what will be needed and what will not be needed to meet the challenges of the future or just to preserve America's deterrent credibility.

It has been difficult up to now, at any rate. According to one observer, however, those on Capitol Hill who believe it is time to reign in military spending are potentially in a much stronger position than they have been in the past.

For the first time, they can now make intelligent decisions about the defense budget because they at last have sources of independent and reliable information, writes John Fischer in Harper's magazine.

He cites two sources outside the government, the Brookings Institution and the Center for Defense Information, the latter staffed by a number of retired admirals, generals and other former Defense Department officials, who have been giving close scrutiny to the nation's defense needs.

Their findings give scant comfort to the snow- white doves among us, Fischer notes. Defense spending cannot be slashed overnight by the amounts some radical critics have suggested. But they do indicate that some $7 billion as a start could be cut out of the military budget for fiscal 1974 without weakening our defense posture.

There are plenty of opportunities for minor economies. For example, all our armed forces are top-heavy with brass. For every enlisted man, there is one officer or noncom to supervise him. Much larger savings could be made by modest cutbacks in the size of our armed forces and the closing of unnecesary bases at home and overseas.

At the very least, these independent sources are presenting facts, figures and documented "strategic scenarios" that can be studied by conscientious congressmen who neither want to be accused by the folks back home of gambling with American's security nor want to place further strain on an inflationary economy which, itself, could weaken the United States more than the lack, say, of a more sophisticated nuclear submarine.

"If they choose to use this information in a courageous and responsible way," says Fischer, "that could be the best news of the century for the American taxpayer."

"COLONIALISM" WITH A VENGEANCE

Powerful groups of proponents of various left-slanted ideologies have created a climate of world opinion which holds that "colonialism" is bad for everybody, both the exploited and the exploiters, by advancing the claim that industrail nations such as Britain, France, Belgium and the United States "exploit" other parts of the world by utilizing their natural resources and labor at extremely favorable rates.

The leftist theory is that the market forces of supply and demand work to the disadvantage of the area and people supplying the natural resources for the industrial areas.

Little or no sympathy is expressed, however, for the people of U.S. oil and gas producing states whose labor and natural resources are shamefully exploited for the benefit of other areas; and the exploitation is not by the free choice of consumers in the marketplace but by political power. Highly populated eastern and northern states, non-producers of oil and gas, wield their political power to suppress prices, wages and profits of workers, investors and royalty owners in the oil and gas producing states.

Being done to Asian or African peoples, this would be "colonialism" with a vengeance. Done to our own people, it is called something else. To compound the injustice, the exploiters have created a legal and ideological climate which forbids exploration for oil and gas in their own states and makes construction of refineries or of alternate energy sources virtually impossible, while "allocating available production and clamoring for more from the producing states. A man reaches a peak when his first son gets old enough to shovel the snow.

Next he'll be big enough to be trusted with the power mower and Dear Old Dad can add a summer of no grass-cutting to the winter of no snow-shoveling and the fall of no leaf-raking.

This is the summit sighted when mother first announces that the first-born cleared the light snow from the sidewalk by himself for the first time.

But that joy is more a plateau than a peak.

For a boy willingly undertakes these tasks for a very limited number of years.

Soon his excitement at being allowed to shovel the snow by himself, his thrill at being trusted with the growling mower will fade. The joy of manly chores dims with the arrival of interest in sports or girls — or both — or the higher motive of performing for pay the tasks his parents once granted grudingly as a reward for ascending boyhood.

In fairness, be it noted that such plateaus are not exclusively male domain. Girls may not pursue snow-shoveling or grass-cutting — although if that's their pleasure let 'em — but they follow similar trails through baby-sitting and dishwashing. The pig-tailed cutie who begged for the honor of dishwashing at 8 wails with homework, colds, urgent telephone calls and approaching paralysis when offered that chance at 15.

If a man is lucky, his supply of sons may provide years of relief from sidewalk and lawn.

As one boy's interest slides off the plateau on the far side of snow-shoveling as recreation, the next becomes old enough to demand his chance.

It is a wise father who encourages the toddler to trail his big brother into the cold armed with a toy shovel and a willing spirit of imitation.

If there is a rule to such things, it is that the second son will start earlier than the first. And the third earlier still.

But the flame which burns earlier dies sooner and the boy who starts his snow removal career at 6 will weary of that job that many years earlier.

Possibly interest may be spurred in its declining moments by rotating the task. When two boys are equally capable of performing a chore, the one who's being honored gets designated — that sort of honor system psychologically gets more snow removed faster than a process which selects for the task the boy who's been least good most recently.

Among boys, tasks must be rotated though, and not shared.

The snow it takes one boy one hour to shovel takes two boys two hours.

Or, as the wise old men of the Ozark hills declared long ago:

One boy's a hand, two boys is half a hand and three boys ain't no hand atall.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Trace More '72 Funds to Bebe

WASHINGTON -- Industrialist Howard Hughes' celebrated $100,000 gift wasn't the only cash that Bebe Rebozo collected for President Nixon.

From sources who have been 100 per cent reliable in the past, we have now learned that other fatcats delivered cash for Nixon to his Florida friend.

No written receipts, apparently, were given. Our sources say the President usually would acknowledge the contributions by telephoning the donors and thanking them.

At this point, we have been able to isolate and identify only one of the cash contributions positively. This was a $10,000 gift from the Davis brothers, who founded the Winn- Dixie supermarket chain.

An intermediary, after checking with Rebozo, said he acknowledged accepting the $10,000 from the Davises and collecting other cash contributions during the 1968 campaign. (J. E. Davis, the Winn- Dixie chairman, failed to return our calls.)

Our sources say Nixon used the cash as "walking around money" to pay his personal expenses. This is vigorously disputed by Rebozo who insisted, according to the intermediary, that the contributions were turned over to the campaign finance chairman, Maurice Stans.

We were unable to reach Stans, although a source close to the fund- raising said there was no record of cash deliveries from Rebozo.

It is a matter of record, at least, that the $100,000 from Hughes was not delivered to Stans. Rebozo has sworn he kept this money for three years in a safe deposit box at his Key Biscayne, Fla., bank.

FOOTNOTE: We made repeated requests to the White House for comment which was promised but never given.

KROGH'S STATEMENT: Contrary to press speculation that Egil Bud "Krogh will implicate President Nixon in the crimes of the White House para- police plumbers unit, Krogh has given the Watergate prosecutors a statement assuming personal responsibility, as chief plumber, for the illegal activities.

Earlier, the prosecutors had thought Krogh could tie the President directly to the plumber's operations. They expected Krogh's statement, therefore, to be a blockbuster that would force the President to resign or face impeachment.

Their expectations were heightened by ex- White House counsel John Dean's sworn testimony before the Senate Watergate Committee about the break- in of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office.

"I asked (Krogh) if he had received his authorization to proceed with the burglary from (John) Ehrlichman," testified Dean. "Krogh responded that, no, he did not believe that Ehrlichman had been aware of the incident until shortly after it had occurred. Rather, he had received his orders right out of the oval office. I was so surprised to hear this that I said, 'You must be kidding.' And he repeated again that he had received his instructions out of the oval office."

Sources with access to Krogh's sworn statement say he claimed Dean had misunderstood him. It was the orders setting up the plumbers unit that came out of the oval office, not the orders for the Ellsberg break- in, Krogh explained.

BURGER'S BOY: The woman who was pushed out of her General Services Administration job to make room for Chief Justice Warren Burger's son has now told us about her experience.

Marilyn Weiner resigned in frustration after many of her duties were turned over to Wade Burger.

"Wade would sit with his feet up on the desk, smoke cigarettes and flick the ashes on the carpet," Mrs. Weiner told us. "He never did much work.

"Every once in a while, pressure was brought on him to get the work out. I was told by a superior to clock him, to see how long he left the room. Sometimes, it was a half hour or an hour. Sometimes, I wouldn't see him the rest of the day."

Mrs. Weiner charged that Burger put his name on her last major project, a condemnation report on a piece of property in Virginia.

"It was this much paperwork," she said, holding her thumb and forefinger about two inches apart. "Wade stapled it together after all the work was done and put his name on it."

Mrs. Weiner retired last October after 14 years of government service, with outstanding ratings. "They'll all be mad at me for telling about Wade Burger," she said. "They all protect him. They all know he's dull."

Yet he received a special title and a $25,863 salary to do the work, largely, that Mrs. Weiner had done for $12,775 a year.

FOOTNOTE: We tried in vain to reach Wade Burger for comment. A woman in his office kept saying he was out and no one knew when he would return.

Melton's contract extended

HOWARDVILLE— The New Madrid County R- 1 enlarged school district board of education extended Supt. Ray Melton's two- year contract an additional year to July 1976 at its January meeting. The board also approved 1974- 75 contracts of the five unit administrators upon recommendation of the superintendent.

Unit administrators are Roy Hon, Lilbourn unit; Joe Scott, Matthews unit; Glenn Dyke, New Madrid unit; James Lovett, Parma unit; and Bill Nance, Portageville unit.

Other administrative contracts approved include Sam Bodine, vocational director; Lester King, Title I director and transportation director; and H. B. Mitchell, assistant title I director and assistant transportation director.

Salaries for these positions were not determined but will be considered by the board at the time the 1974- 75 teachers' salary schedule is adopted.

The board also approved a high school graduation policy to begin in the 1974- 75 school year, which complies with minimum requirements established by the State Department of Education.

The policy requires three units in communication skills, three units of social studies, one each in science, mathematics, fine arts, practical arts and physical education and nine units of elective courses.

The low bid by McCrate Equipment Co. of Portageville for 17 bus chassis combined with bus bodies was selected by the board after consideration was given to several bids.

Bids submitted for milk contracts were for the same amounts and reflected nearly a 13 per cent increase in the price of milk. The board agreed to continue its program with Turner Dairy Co. of Sikeston.

Approval was given by the board for the district to seek a renewal of the Follow Through Program grant for the 1974- 75 school year.

Bills totaling $157,887 were approved by the board, and it was noted that the payroll for the month was $323,827.

3 Madrid men plead guilty in Circuit Court

NEW MADRID — Three men were sentenced and granted probation Tuesday in Circuit Court when they pleaded guilty to criminal charges before Judge William L. Ragland.

Terry Brown of New Madrid pleaded guilty to tampering with a motor vehicle on Nov. 3, 1973 by removing a battery from a crawler tractor owned by Ramsey Farms on Highway 61. He was sentenced to two years in the custody of the State Department of Corrections, then granted probation under supervision.

Probation under supervision was granted to Ernest Smith Jr. of New Madrid when he received concurrent two- year sentences on burglary and larceny charges. Smith was accused with two other men of breaking into Gene Long's Standard Service Station on Interstate 55 at the Howardville interchange on Jan. 8. Approximately $300, three sets of keys and a ring were reported stolen.

Denny Briggs, charged with felonious stealing, was sentenced to two years in custody of the State Department of Corrections, then granted probation under supervision. Briggs was charged with stealing $578.04 from the Martin Oil Co. station in New Madrid, where he was employed as an attendant. He was arrested and charged after an investigation indicated he had fabricated a story about being robbed by a man with a gun on Jan. 10.

Presley, Kilgore exchange vows

First Christian Church was the setting for the Dec. 28 evening wedding of Sandra Kay Presley and Mikell Glenn Kilgore. The double- ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Paul Walker.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Edith Ford of Sikeston and the late Leonard Ford. The groom is the son of Mrs. Sarah Meyer of Miami, Fla., and the late Glenn Kilgore.

Altar decorations consisted of lighted tapers in spiral candelabras accented with burgundy bows. Six lighted tapers in single candelabras progressed up the chancel steps. Two arrangements of deep red roses decorated the front altar and two white pedestals, which each held a silver tray and challis, completed the altar setting. Burgundy bows marked the pews, and Christmas greenery entwining the windows and podiums of the sanctuary added a romantic touch.

Danny Malone provided classical music selections and the traditional wedding march on the organ and piano before the ceremony. He also accompanied Mrs. Teresa Johnson, as she sang an adapted version of "Love Story" for the groom, and Tom Nunnelee, as he sang, "And I Love Her", for the bride.

The bride was met by the groom halfway down the aisle and escorted to the altar. She wore a floor-length gown of ivory Venise lace. The fitted bodice was accented with a Victorian neckline and Renaissance sleeves with self ruffle. The empire waist was complemented with an ivory satin band that came to a bow in the back with streamers the length of the gown. The A- line lace skirt was highlighted with shirred lace ruffles four inches apart down to the hemline.

The bride carried a white inlaid mother- of- pearl Bible with the Star of David inscribed on the top, covered with ivory and burgundy-tipped roses mixed with baby's breath and accented with burgundy velvet ribbon. The Bible came from The Holy Land and was borrowed from a friend, Mrs. Irene Kuehle.

The bride chose Mrs. Sharon Hatley of Paducah, Ken., as her matron of honor and only attendent. She was attired in a floor- length gown of burgundy crushed velvet styled similarly to the bride's. She carried an old-fashioned nosegay of different shades of carnations mixed with baby's breath and olive green streamers. Similar flowers adorned her hair.

Tracy Anne Presley, daughter of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a long gown of olive green crushed velvet and carried a small old- fashioned nosegay of different shades of carnations mixed with baby's breath and burgundy streamers. Pink and white carnations accented her hair.

The groom was attired in an ivory brocade Lord West tuxedo with ming green ruffled shirt and black bow tie. A single red rose complemented his outfit. His best man was Art Hobbs of Sikeston, who wore a burgundy formal tuxedo with pink ruffled shirt and black bow tie. A single ivory rose was worn on his lapel.

Wayne Hatley of Paducah, Ky., and Jim Clay of Sikeston served as ushers and candlelighters. They were dressed in single breasted black tuxedos with white ruffled shirts and black bow ties. Each wore a single red rose on his lapel.

Mrs. Clare Hobbs of Sikeston attended the guestbook.

The wedding couple composed their own wedding vows which they kept from each other until the ceremony. As the couple departed up the aisle Mrs. Johnson and Nunnelee sang, "We've Only Just Begun".

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ford chose a floor- length green dress and coat ensemble accented in gold. She wore an old-fashioned corsage of rainbow carnations.

Mrs. Meyer chose a floor-length blue gown accented in silver for her son's ceremony. An old- fashioned corsage of rainbow carnations also completed her outfit.

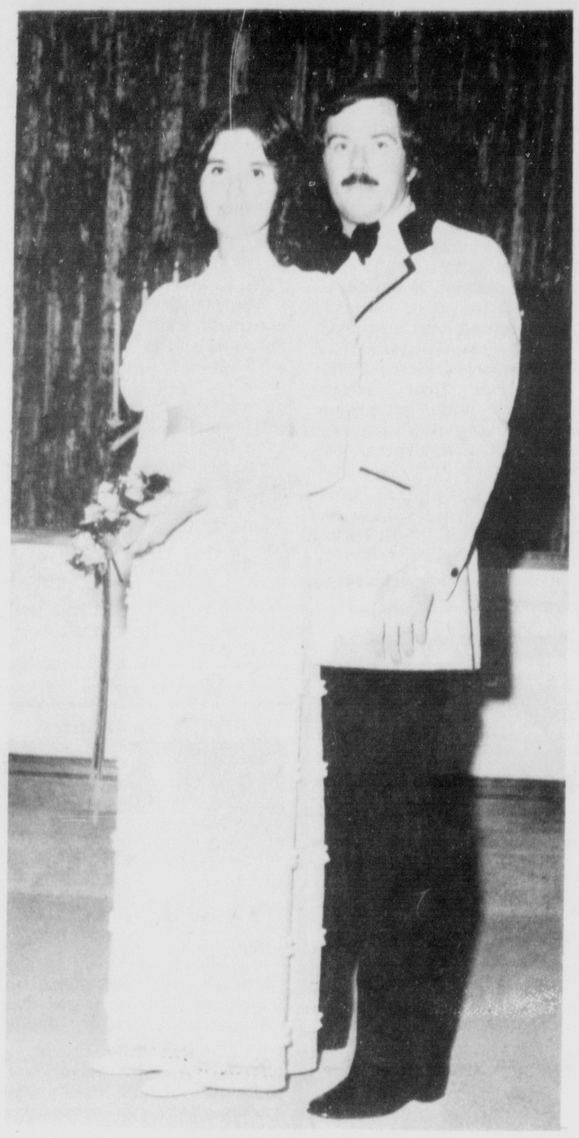
Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church fellowship hall with the Keystone Class in charge. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a four- tier, columned, wedding cake. Greenery and roses encircled the cake which held the traditional bride and groom replicas. Silver candelabra, punch bowl and compotes of nuts and mints completed the setting. Mrs. Alice Nunnelee and Mrs. Cathy Heacox assisted at the reception table.

The couple left for a wedding trip to St. Louis. For traveling the bride wore a burgundy and ivory dress and jacket. She completed her ensemble with gray suede shoes and purse and a corsage of roses from the bridal bouquet.

The couple lives at 909 Arlington Road. The bride teaches second grade at Lee Hunter Elementary School and the groom is a registered representative for Reinholdt & Gardner Stock Brokers.

Out- of- town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Butts and children of Berkeley, a sister of the bride; Mrs. John Carter of Cairo, Ill., aunt of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Stone of Cairo, cousins of the bride; Gary Walter and Mr. and Mrs. James MacAtee of St. Louis; and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Owens of Creve Coeur.

Following a rehearsal on the eve of the wedding, a dinner was held at Two-Tony's Smorgasbord for the wedding party, family and friends.



Mr. and Mrs. Mikell Glenn Kilgore

Ann Landers

Elderly lady wants cat buried with her

Dear Ann: I am suffering from an illness which has been diagnosed as "terminal." I have accepted it, and this is not my problem. Please don't write me off as a kook. I am serious about the advice I am seeking.

What I need to know is if it's possible to have my pet (dead, of course— buried with me. If not in the same casket, could she be in an adjoining box?

I have a cat who has been my faithful companion for 15 years. We have been through all sorts of crises together. She is my best friend.

I an drawing up a will and I'm afraid no one would take care of her properly after I am gone. I also feel she will miss me terribly. I am considering a clause in my will requesting that she be put to sleep when I die and asking that she be buried with me.

Please don't think this is crazy. In other cultures beloved pets were buried with their masters. Answer, please. -- C.F.

Dear C.F.: Each cemetery has its own constitution and by-laws. Some states specify that they will accommodate only human remains. Check to see if the cemetery you are considering will grant your wish. If not, scout around and find one that will.

A 15-year-old cat is equivalent to an 85- or 90-year- old human. Most veterinarians would not hesitate to put such a cat to sleep, according to two Chicago veterinarians.

My best wishes to you, dear, and I don't think you are a kook at all. You sound like a thoughtful, sensitive person.

Dear Ann: I just edited your column replying to the 14-year- old who asked how much she should tip for a burger and cold drink while shopping. Your reply was, "Any person who sits down to eat in a restaurant and is served should leave something, even if he is seated on a stool at a counter."

Does this advice go for the waitress who takes her time and acts like she's doing you a favor by taking your order, then slops the food down in front of you and ruins your appetite? I operate on the theory that tipping is a reward for good service. And please don't tell me to eat elsewhere--- this is the only restaurant in the vicinity. The other waitresses (most of them) are okay, and they get tipped. ——Editor Who Has To Eat Out.

Dear Ed: A tip is the customer's way of saving "thank you for good service." No tip is the unspoken message that the service was lousy. I heartiy support both gestures.

Dear Ann Landers: Regarding that young man who wanted to break his engagement by mail after taking up three years of a girls's time. You called him "gutless" and said the least he could do was to have the decency to break it off in person.

What about a girl who takes up three years of a man's time, is treated to expensive dinners, plays, concerts, is driven everywhere she wants to go, accepts gifts and finally helps him select a beautiful diamond ring? Two and a half months before the wedding, SHE calls it off by phone and keeps the ring.

The guy probably got off lucky at that. Think of what life would be like married to such a gold-digger. The point of this letter is to remind people that sometimes it's the girl who's the rat.-- Bay City Reader.

Dear Bay: In most states, the male is entitled to the ring when the girl breaks the engagement. If you're the guy who got dumped you ought to check with a lawyer.

Ann Landers discusses teen-age drinking -- its myths, its realities. Learn the facts by reading, "Booze and You-- For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers, P.O. Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

Indians topple Matthews

NEW MADRID — Coach Carroll Compton's NMHS Indians recorded the first upset of the NMC tournament here Tuesday night when they edged the third seeded Matthews Pirates 59-58. Gideon eased past the Portageville Bulldogs 60-52 in the other varsity encounter while New Madrid's JV bomped Portageville 54-13.

Coach Carroll Compton's Indians employed a tight man to man defense to stiffle the usually good shooting of the Pirate crew.

Portageville enjoyed a 10-9 first period lead but Gideon used their fine balanced scoring power to tie the Bulldogs 26-26 at the half.

The key to the Bulldog victory was their ability to hold high scoring Sammy Johnson to only four points in the game.

Gideon took the game away from the Portageville Bulldogs in the third period with their defense as they allowed the Portageville crew to score only 26 points in the last two periods.

Gideon was led in scoring by Joe Murphy with 18 points. Tim Grable hit 15 for Portageville.

The Matthews Pirates couldn't hold off a last period onslaught by the NMHS Indians and fell from the tournament.

Matthews jumped out in front 22-15 after one period of play and added another point to their lead in the second quarter.

The Indians defense took charge in the third quarter allowing the high scoring Pirates only nine points. Matthews couldn't solve the defense in the last quarter, scoring only 10 points to 16 for the Indians.

Steve Glenn paced the Indians with 14 points. Arman Porter scored 15 for Matthews.

New Madrid made it two wins on the night by completely demolishing Portageville in the B game. Portageville didn't score in the second period and put in only two points in the second enroute to the defeat. Chris Tanner led the Indians with 16 points. Dial hit five for Portageville.

Rebs upset cats

By STUART McGHEE

BLOOMFIELD — The second night of the Stoddard County Tournament opened Tuesday night with the Richland Rebels defeating the Puxico Indians 45-39 in the junior varsity bracket. In the second game the Puxico A team made short work of the Bell City Cubs 67-42, and the final game of the night was an upset created by the Richland Rebels, beating the third seeded Dexter Bearcats 50-47.

Jim Clay led the Rebs JV to victory with 17 points for the night. This victory advanced the Rebels to the next bracket of the tournament where they will meet the winner of the Bell City - Bloomfield game played Wednesday night.

Randy Campbell was the top scorer for the Indians with 16.

In the second game the Puxico Indians had little trouble defeating the Bell City Cubs, a first quarter score of 16-5 reflected the power the Indians held over the Cubs. Puxico followed the same pattern in the second quarter scoring 21 points and allowing the Cubs only 12. Very little changed in the third quarter but the fourth quarter sided with the Cubs, gaining three points on the Indians but having very little effect.

The Smith brothers, Will and Red, pumped in 23 points for the Indians scoring 12 and 11 points respectively. Phil Stephens was the leading scorer for the Cubs with 14 points.

The third and final game was by far the most exciting of the night with the unseeded Richland Rebels upsetting the Dexter Bearcats who were seeded third in this tournament.

The first quarter of the ball game told the fans that this would be a close game to the final second. Both teams played their defense well but the Bearcats managed to get more points on the scoreboard with 11 compared to nine for the Rebels. The second quarter was a different story with the Rebels coming out on top 17-9 for a halftime score of 26-20 in favor of the Rebels. Dexter regained three points of their lost lead but still fell three points short of a tie ball game. The fourth quarter came out even with each team scoring 12 points. Don Reynolds was the leading scorer for the 'Cats with 13, Reynolds was followed by Mike Cooksey and new-comer, Gary Johnson with 11 each. Kenneth Cain held the Rebel offense up with 17 points.

SHS record falls to 4-8

POPLAR BLUFF-- The Sikeston Bulldogs kept their tournament record intact with an undistinguished 80-70 loss here Tuesday night at the hands of the Kennett Indians. The loss, Sikeston's third straight this year to Kennett dropped the SHS record to 4- 8. The night's action was highlighted by the Twin Rivers Royals' 64- 63 upset of the third seeded host.

Ron Marks, enjoying his best night of the year, connected for 21 points. Roger Tillman followed with 18, but missed 16 inside shots in the game. Roy Bowman was the other Bulldog in double figures. He, however, was held well below his season's average and ended with 15 points.

Robert Roundtree again led Kennett scoring; The 6-foot tall sophomore center scored 19 points, giving him 70 points in three games again the hapless Bulldogs as Sikeston coach McDaniel could never find anyone who could stop him. Ben McCracken suffered an off shooting night, but counted on seven fourth- quarter free throws to hike his final output to 17 points. Terry Shands came off the bench to score 14 points, and Chris Miltonberger combined with McCracken to give Kennett something Sikeston has lacked all year- ACCURATE outcourt shooting.

Dividing the game in quarters or sections would do no good in analizing the contest. Kennett controlled the contest from the outset and proved undeniably that they were the superior team. Despite the fact that the Indians didn't start a man over six feet tall, they outrebounded Sikeston 37-33. A 6-foot 3 sophomore Mark Eaves led Sikeston with eight rebounds. Roundtree grabbed nine rebounds, and three teammates had eight.

Bulldogs, besides Marks, enjoying a good night were Bruce Lawrence, a starter at guard, and Eaves. Steve Jones hit all three shots he took, but two of those were on followup shots as Sikeston still wasn't as unselfish with the ball as they will have to be to win.

With the tournament continuing the rest of this week, the Bulldogs will still be inactive. They take to the Tartan floor of the fieldhouse Saturday night against tall and talented West Plains. West Plains, a victor over Poplar Bluff earlier in the year has a frontline that includes two 6- 5s and a center 6-foot-8.

It just wasn't a night for the favorites all over Southeast Missouri and the host Poplar Bluff Mules were numbered among the victims. The Mules played pitifully while falling before the Twin Rivers Royals, 64- 63. Poplar Bluff, who had beaten Twin Rivers previously this season, was seeded third in the tourney.

The aggressive Royals took the play right to the heavily- favored Mules and proved to be more than a match for coach Jim King's cagers. Aggressive heads up play by the smaller Royals enabled them to block PBHS off the boards and steal the ball time after time, while building up a twelve point, 39- 27 halftime lead.

The Mules used their inside game more often and more effectively in the third period, but they still trailed entering the last period, 52-42.

The Roayls froze for a moment in that final frame. They probably realized what they were about to accomplish and tensed up. The late Mules charge kept the fourth quarter difference under three points most of the period, but late free throws by Mike Allison eventually spelled the difference in the game.

Allison led Poplar Bluff with 20 points. Bruce Dameworth had 21 for the Mules.

Bullpups split with Jackson

The Sikeston eighth and ninth grades divided a pair of games with the Jackson Indians here Tuesday afternoon as coach Mike Foster's eighth grade won 41-32 and Asa Kinnaman's ninth graders took a 41- 28 loss.

The eighth graders pushed their season record to 6- 2 with the win. Steve Sims was the high scorer with 14 points.

Sikeston scored 12 points in each of the first three periods and fell off to five in the fourth quarter. Jackson had shooting difficulties and scored double figures in only the third period in taking the loss.

Asa Kinnaman's freshmen had goose egg in the first quarter and just couldn't find the range in the entire game and Jackson had an easy time winning. No Bulldogs hit in double figures for the game. Gilbow was high with eight points. The freshmen record is 3- 4.

Braves down EPHS

EAST PRAIRIE--- The little Scott Central Braves, which seem to be everywhere at the same time, used their magic to edge the EPHS Eagles of coach Steve Doran 81- 80 here Tuesday night in a Scott- Mississippi conference game.

The Eagles had beaten the Braves last week in the Scott-Miss. tourney rather easily but just couldn't stave off coach Ronnie Cookson's five as the Eagles blew a 62- 58 lead at the end of three periods.

Scott Central burst out in front in the opening period with hot shooting and ball hawking defense 23- 16 behind the shooting of Kenny Bright and Paul McRoberts.

Leroy Bradley and Steve Husk found the range and the second period turned into an exchange of baskets as the Eagles came roaring back, outscoring the Braves 25- 20 and trailed 43- 41 at the half.

EPHS took command in the third period as Don Dixon picked up the scoring and the Eagles forged ahead by four going into the final period.

Scott Central continued to press and force mistakes by the Eagles and outscored the Eagles by five points in the period to win the game.

Bradley scored 31, Husk 24, and Dixon added 17 for the EPHS Eagles. Bright hit 25, McRoberts 22, Robert Cook 15, and Danny Peet scored 12 for the Braves.

Deer downed

CARUTHERSVILLE--- Coach Buddy James' CHS Tigers whipped the Clarkton Reindeer 74- 59 here Tuesday night to even their season record at 7- 7.

The Tigers featured a balanced scoring attack with Ben Cantrell hitting 18 points for Caruthersville as three other Tigers hit in double figures. Joe Caldwell was high for Clarkton with 17 points.

The Tigers took a quick 18- 12 lead as Clarkton was uable to get the easy bucket but the Reindeer quickly adjusted in the second period and outscored the Tigers 19-17 to trail 35- 31 at the intermission.

Caruthersville made some adjustments of their own at the half and came out in the third period to outshoot the Reindeer 22- 16 and ice the game. Clarkton tried to rally in the last period but time ran out too soon.

Jerome Wilson scored 23 points in a losing cause as the Clarkton B team won over the Tigers 66- 62. Britt hit 24 for Clarkton.

Construction plans announced by Caruthersville City Council

CARUTHERSVILLE — Plans to enlarge the municipal building and add needed parking spaces near the present parking lot at the building have been announced by the City Council.

The city's consulting firm, Buescer- Frankenberg, presented tentative plans and was authorized to produce final plans on the projects.

The added space at the city hall would be to the north of the present council chambers, reaching to the sidewalk at the parking lot. The new area would be used as a city courtroom and would double as the council meeting room.

Offices for city clerks and secretaries would be made from the present council room, which would be divided into two large offices.

The new addition will be approximately 1,000 square feet in size and will match as closely as possible the construction of the present building.

Added parking space will be obtained by building a new parking area south of the present lot and east of the municipal building. The lot will hold 14 cars and will be entered from the present lot rather than from Carleton Avenue.

The cost f the new parking area is estimated at between $2,000 and $3,000. No estimate on the building additon has been announced.

Chaffee chamber to make monthly tours

CHAFFEE — The Chaffee Chamber of Commerce has decided to meet the third Monday of each month at Brook's Inn for a dinner meeting and voted to have a monthly tour for members of an industry or business in Chaffee.

Jack T. Burnett reported that work on replacing the "Welcome to Chaffee" sign at the intersection of Highway 77 and Helen Avenue will begin as soon as weather permits. He also reported that contributions of merchants paid the complete cost of the community Christmas celebration directed by the Jaycees and financed by the chamber.

Burnett was named chairman of the membership drive to sign up the 101 businesses and professional persons in Chaffee.

The chamber learned that its efforts to have a caution light installed on the highway at the Florsheim Shoe Co. plant have been unsuccessful. The chamber owns and maintains a parking lot for employes at the plant, but the lot is located across the highway from the plant and workers have experienced difficulties in crossing the highway to the plant.

Dan Bollinger, chamber president, said the State Highway Department office at Sikeston reported it had made a survey and determined that a caution light wasn't needed. He said the chamber will pursue the matter further.

MIND CONTROL® & ESP

A WAY TO USE YOUR MIND BETTER

One of the reports that won admittance of the Parapsychological Association to the American Association for the Advancement of Science was one stating: "That corporate executives using ESP and involving millions of dollars doubled their company's money." SILVA MIND CONTROL courses have had tremendous success throughout the nation in teaching practical applications of controlled ESP. This is the first and only method in history known to be effective in developing controlled ESP.

The "Silva Method" as it is known was scientifically researched by Jose Silva, a research scientist in Laredo, Texas, and a pioneer in mental training and research in brain waves. Mr. Silva states, "The discovery that Human Intelligence can learn to control brain waves and function with awareness at the Alpha and Theta frequencies of the brain will go down in history as the greatest discovery of man."

Silva says that we somehow have unconsciously learned to interfere, allowing the body's healing function and this effect is known as the psychosomatic health problems. It appears that by learning to function with awareness at the Alpha/Theta levels we automatically cease to interfere, allowing the body's internal organs and glands to return to their natural rhythmic self-heating function.

"We don't need to teach the internal organs how to function. Nature takes care of that when we do not interfere. The Silva Method is dedicated to help humans become healthier, more productive and better problem- solvers.

"Our students report better memory, high grades, less tension and anxiety, faster healing, release and rejection of Psychosomatic problems, control of sleep and headaches, control of smoking, weight and even correction of drug habits, and also maintenance of better general health."

A WAY TO DEVELOP AND USE ESP

Mr. Silva adds that these abilities are just side benefits and that the real benefit is that the student when at these levels seems to sense information impressed on the brain cells of others. This is what some call ESP or Extra Sensory Perception, but Silva calls it Subjective Communications.

The MIND CONTROL program has changed the meaning of ESP which was uncontrolled, erratic and very evasive to Subjective Communications which are controlled and effective. Silva suggests that perfecting the means to communicate at this dimension will be the second phase of human evolution on this planet.

You can now have an added tool to obtain information, to use your mind more effectively, and become more successful.

MIND CONTROL is a course inliving - to put mind and body together for better living.

New abortion bill questioned

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A bill to restrict abortions in Missouri to the fullest extent allowed by the U.S. Constitution raised questions in the House Judiciary Committee about whether it is constitutional.

Witnesses for and against the bill differed on its chances to pass a Supreme Court test and on its need in hearings that lasted until nearly 2 a.m. today.

The bill would allow abortions in the first trimester of pregnancy only with the consent of the mother and father (if known), and would require them to be performed in "health facilities" after a 48 hour waiting period. Live babies resulting from abortions would become wards of the state, and parents would lose their rights over such children if they agreed to abortions.

If the mother was under age 18 and unmarried, her parents would have to consent. The health facility could be a doctor's office or a clinic. The bill would ban saline abortions.

The bill's sponsor, Rep. William O'Toole, D-St. Louis, said the bill "would pass muster" of a constitutional test. Other witnesses disagreed.

The bill contains an emergency clause that would make it law after legislative passage and the governor's signature.

O'Toole said the bill would not harass mothers seeking abortions. He said in the last two trimesters of pregnancy, abortions could only be performed if the "maternal health of the mother" was endangered.

A co-sponsor of the bill, Rep. Clifford Gannon, D-De Soto, said, "If we think we are in a sick society today ... if we let this abortion in Missouri go without control, we'll have a much sicker society." The state has no abortion statute now.

Representatives of Missouri Right-To-Life groups also spoke in favor of the bill.

An opponent of the bill, Frank Sussman, St. Louis attorney, said "this is the most poorly written bill I have ever seen that may face a constitutional challenge."

He said regulations on the first trimester of pregnancy abortions were unconstitutional, and the bill indirectly "thwarts mothers' freedom of choice."

He said one section of the bill which would make babies surviving abortions wards of the state violated five of the 12 amendments in the Bill of Rights.

Sussman said an unmarried woman over age 18 could be denied even a lifesaving abortion by lack of the partner father's consent, under the bill.

He said the bill puts too much legislative regulation over the medical profession.

Speaking for the bill was a St. Louis pediatrician, Dr. Paul Byrne, who said life starts at conception and "By 11 weeks, the fetus is a functioning individual."

The committee took no action.

House will continue reorganization debate

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri House was to continue debate today on a bill to reorganize the executive branch of state government.

The bill was explained on the House floor Tuesday by Rep. Joe Holt, D-Fulton. An amendment was beaten 78-76 to set the location of the Missouri Institute of Psychiatry into law.

Several St. Louis area representatives argued for the amendment, saying MIP employes in St. Louis are fearful they will lose their jobs because of a plan to relocate the Institute.

The MIP has been a center of controversy since the University of Missouri decided not to renew a contract to operate it for the state Division of Mental Health.

Holt argued in favor of flexibility, saying the university would not be "locked in" to the St. Louis location.

Under the House reorganization proposal, MIP's research would go to the University of Missouri and the non-university personnel and the computers would be under the jurisdiction of the Mental Health Division.

The House substitute bill includes some provisions of the Senate measure, but generally gives more authority to department heads and has fewer instances of Senate consent for appointees under the department level.

The governor and other elected officials would get pay raises under an amendment tacked onto the bill Tuesday. It would set the governor's salary at $40,000, lieutenant governor at $20,000 and the attorney general, treasurer and secretary of state at $35,000 apiece.

single or delaying marriage than was the case formerly, adding to the live- alone total.

Among the older people, too, it is no longer common, as it was years ago, for parents to move in with their married children when widowed. Three- generation households are a rarity these days.

The net result, in Scott County, is that the number of one- person households has reached 1,918, a marked increase over 1960, when the total was 1,359.

Insurance qualification is sought

CARUTHERSVILLE— Renewed efforts to get Pemiscot County qualified for government subsidized flood insurance are being made by county and local officials and insurance representatives.

A meeting was held by the County Court Monday morning which involved members of the Corps of Engineers, representatives of the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission and the Missouri Water Resources Board, city officials and insurance and financing representatives.

"The residents of Caruthersville could possibly be eligible for this flood insurance in as little as three weeks," said Lee DeAtley, a representative for the Missouri Water Resources Board.

"As the city already has zoning and building codes in force, there are just a few more things needed and then the insurance may be sold to property owners in town. The county will require a little more time to be qualified," DeAtley continued, "with as few as four to six weeks being needed for it to meet the requirements."

The county will have to set up zoning and building codes and have a building inspector who will sell building permits for construction to be done in the county. A study will also have to be made of the entire county to determine the areas most likely to be flooded due to their being "low areas."

A similar meeting was held on March 5 last year. Local insurance representatives asked DeAtley to come and discuss the requirements for the county to be eligible for flood insurance.

At the time little more was done on the matter as the city was tied up in fighting the worst flood to hit the city in years.

"The federal government has plans to stop all flood damage assistance after 1975, so flood insurance will be a must for all property owners in low lying areas," DeAtley said.

Don Crawford, a Corps of Engineers representative, said his office would help the county in any way possible as this program is a necessity for all counties near rivers or in other flood- prone areas.

COOKING-UP

EAST PRAIRIE — Recipes featured in this week's Cooking-Up Column are a few of the favorites of the Jim Bishop family of Dogwood.

Mrs. Bishop writes the Dogwood Column for the East Prairie Eagle and the Charleston Enterprise- Courier newspapers, and she is employed part-time at the Eagle office. Her husband Jim is a farmer, and they are the parents of two daughters, Susan Bishop, a senior at East Prairie High School, and Mrs. Rick Cobb of Lake Wales, Fla. The family attenda Concordia Lutheran Church at Sikeston.

Many of her recipes are sent to her by readers; others she has clipped from magazines and newspapers. The Taste Festival at her church each year also provides new and different recipes.

Mrs. Bishop calls this recipe "Tom's Banana Loaf", since she bakes it quite often for a neighbor youth, Tom Lingle, who has muscular dystrophy.

TOM'S BANANA LOAF

Mix: 2½ cups flour
1 2/3 cups sugar
1¼ tsp. baking powder
1¼ tsp. soda
1 tsp. salt
2/3 cup shortening
2/3 cup buttermilk
3 or 4 mashed bananas
2 large eggs

Beat with mixer until well mixed. Fold in nuts, if desired, and bake at 350 degrees until golden brown and done to the touch.

This banana loaf is good plain or sliced in two and topped with bananas and frosty icing.

BANANA SPLIT CAKE

Bottom layer:
1 stick melted margarine
½ cup powdered sugar
2 cups vanilla wafer crumbs

Stir. Pack down in bottom of long cake pan. Use glass pan; it looks pretty when completed.

Second layer:
2 egg whites (unbeaten)
1 stick oleo at room temperature
2 cups powdered sugar

Beat for 10 minutes (time yourself as this can seem like a long time). Spread over first layer.

Third layer: large can drained crushed pineapple. Three bananas sliced lengthwise. Spread bananas over cake and cover with pineapple; then top with one box of whipped cream, sprinkle with nuts and freeze for 15 minutes. Delicious, but rich.

This cake is a "Quickie" but one of the Bishop favorites.

MIRACLE WHIP CAKE
2 cups flour
1 cup sugar
dash salt
4 tbsp. cocoa
1 cup salad dressing
1 cup hot water
1 tsp. vanilla

Sift together. Make hole in center. Add salad dressing, hot water and vanilla.

Stir and bake at 325 or 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes or until done to the touch.

This is delicious when topped with the accompanying frosting, which is so quick and easy to prepare that your cake is complete in just a short time.

BEAT AND EAT FROSTING
1 egg white, unbeaten
¼ tsp. cream of tartar
3/4 cup sugar
¼ cup boiling water
1 tsp. vanilla.

Put egg whites, sugar, cream of tartar and vanilla in small deep bowl and mix well. Add boiling water. Beat at high speed on mixer to stiff peaks.

Will fill and frost two 8-inch layers. Sprinkle with coconut if desired.

This recipe for chocolate pie belongs to a brother-in-law, James F. Smith, and it will make two pies.

CHOCOLATE PIE

3 cups sugar
6 tbsp. cocoa
6 tbsp. flour or cornstarch
6 egg yellows
1 stick margarine
3 cups milk (1¼ milk and 1¼ evaporated)

Combine and cook until thickened.

Add level teaspoon vanilla and pour into baked pie shells. Top with meringue or whipped topping. Tastes almost like fudge candy.

MEAT LOAF

1½ lb. hamburger
1 beaten egg
1 medium chopped onion
¼ tsp. pepper
1 cup bread crumbs
1¼ tsp. salt
½ cut tomato sauce

Lightly mix ingredients and form loaf. Place in loaf pan or skillet (she prefers a skillet) and top with the following sauce:
½ can tomato sauce
1 cup water
2 tbsp. mustard
2 tsp. brown sugar

Mix well, pour over meat and bake at 350 degrees for about 1¼ hours.

This recipe is one of her husband's favorites and when she fixes it, it is sometimes served with a salad and is delicious eaten with crackers..

CHEESE SOUFFLE

1 cup scalded milk
1 cup bread crumbs (fresh bread), trim crust off if desired
½ cup grated snappy cheese (cheddar)
1 tbsp. butter
3 egg yolks, beaten well
½ tsp. salt

Put butter in milk as it is scalding. Then mix all ingredients together; add to well beaten egg yolks. Put in greased baking dish and bake for about 20 minutes at 325-350 degrees. One can tell by looking when it is done. Sprinkle bacon bits on top for meat flavor.

Since Christmas candy-making has just passed, this recipe was put to good and frequent use by Mrs. Bishop. It is quite delicious and almost "never fail" fudge.

FUDGE
2 cups sugar
2/3 cup evaporated milk
12 regular marshamllows
Salt to taste
½ cup margarine
6 oz. pkg. chocolate chips
1 cup chopped nuts
1 tsp. vanilla

Mix sugar, milk, marshmallows and margarine in heavy pan.

Cook, stirring constantly, over medium heat to a boil (mixture will be bubbling all over top). Boil and stir five minutes more (time carefully).

Take off heat and stir in chocolate chips until completely melted, then add chopped nuts and vanilla.

Spread in a buttered pan. As soon as the chips are melted and nuts added, this will be ready to pour right into the pan for creamy, delicious eating.

Q. What's the name of this meat cut?
A. Smoked picnic shoulder.
Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?
A. It comes from the pork shoulder and includes the arm section and part of the fore shank.

Q. How is it prepared?
A. By roasting (baking) or cooking in liquid. To roast, place on a rack in an open, shallow pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so it reaches the center of the thickest part, making sure the bulb does not rest either in fat or on bone. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325°F.) until the meat thermometer reaches 170°F. Allow 35 minutes per pound for roasting. Smoked picnic shoulder ranges in weight from five to eight pounds which means the total cooking time ranges from three to four and one-half hours.

I was just reading an article in one of the ladies magazines about "Noted Women Remember Their Favorite Childhood Toys", and I came to the conclusion that I must not be noted woman material because I definitely didn't have the same childhood tastes these ladies did. Ninety per cent of these girls (and most of them, according to this article which I must admit I took with a grain of salt), had a doll or stuffed animal which was their favorite, and quite a few of them still have some object displayed somewhere in their bedroom, or other niche to this very day. Ugh — I never could make it with dolls, my mother adored them and so we had plenty of them around the house for me to become acquainted with, but somehow a rubber baby that closed its eyes when you laid it down, or cried "ma-ma" when you squeezed its tummy, or wet a diaper when you fed it with a bottle, somehow, that all just left me cold. To be honest, I also thought the Mongoloid expressions on most baby dolls faces had something to do with their being so distasteful to me — isn't there any such thing as a sweet looking new born baby doll? Anyway, if I ever get to be a noted woman and they ask me what I liked the best in my childhood, I think I would have to say climbing a big ole magnolia tree across the street from my house with a piece of kindling stuck between my teeth (I was either Tarzan or Errol Flynn, depended on that Saturday's matinee). Then, I had a gorgeous six shooter that looked just like the real thing Gene Autry (my best hero), used to shoot the bad man with after which he always broke into song & rode away into the sunset leaving my little heart pitter pattering right after him. Another favorite pastime of mine was collecting bugs and putting them in labeled jars and for a penny the other kids could come to the zoo. For example grasshoppers were kangaroos, lighting bugs were electric eels (it was sort of an aquarium type zoo), big beetles were hippos, and I'll never forget the day I found two stink bugs enjoying life to the fullest, but when I proudly showed my Siamese twin ant eaters to mother, they were quickly snatched out of that days display, (I have since noted that stink bugs and dragon flys must have an over abundance of hormones as they are constantly displaying their affections right before the general public and without the least show of embarrassment). I guess about the only dolls I ever really took any delight in were the hollyhock dolls we kids made ourselves, and we could hardly wait for those lovely stalks to bloom in our back alley so we could tear off the blossoms and buds, and see who could make the most flamboyant lady. If I remember correctly, (and I seldom do anymore, must be my age), we took the full blown blossom, stuck a toothpick through its center and turned it upside down — viola, a Southern belle's full skirt; then, you took a partly opened bloom, stuck it upside down on the other half of the toothpick, tore away two little green leafs at its base and you discovered eyes and nose and a lovely frilly hairdo above like Madam Pompadour use to flaunt. Then, take two fairly tight buds, stick a toothpick through the top of the skirt, and on each side push these buds and the lady had instant arms and was she gorgeous, she was and what was even better was you had given birth to her yourself. Oh well, I'll end my childhood reminences and I'd best get busy tending to the two I actually did turn out myself, but, do you think this could be why I'll never make the noted women's list?

Lettuce Wedges with Pourable Dressings

A crisp wedge of western iceberg lettuce and a homemade pourable dressing made from real mayonnaise is the most typical of all American salads. From the Best Foods test kitchens the suggestion is made that you thin Hellmann's real mayonnaise with practically any liquid you wish to the consistency your family likes. It can be milk, fruit juice, chili sauce, citrus juices, or even a combination of wine vinegar and water. The idea is to make it to suit your own taste by thinning and adding spices and herbs. Here we suggest a hot and spicy pourable dressing.

Hot and Spicy Dressing

½ cup chili sauce
1 teaspoon soy sauce
⅛ teaspoon grated onion
⅛ teaspoon tabasco sauce
1 cup real mayonnaise
½ cup milk

Mix chili sauce, soy sauce, onion, tabasco sauce, mayonnaise and milk. Chill. Serve with lettuce wedges or on meat and fish salads. Makes about 1¾ cups.

The new Kingston Trio will appear at the Ramada Inn Friday for one night only. There will be two shows at 8 p.m. and 10 p.m. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Focus On Business

RESTORATION WAS EXPENSIVE GO-AROUND

VALENCIA, Calif. (AP) — A 1912 classic carousel that operated 50 years at the Savin Rock Amusement Park, West Haven, Conn., is now located at Magic Mountain, an amusement park near Los Angeles. When new, the carousel sold for $15,000. Magic Mountain paid more than $200,000 to have it restored.

International coffees to be distributed locally

The Maxwell House Coffee Division of General Foods Corp. will soon introduce three types of international coffee into the Sikeston area.

The coffees — Cafe Au Lait, Suisse Mocha and Cafe Vienna — will be distributed by Malone and Hyde, Inc. of Sikeston.

Cafe Au Lait is a French coffee favorite with creme flavoring, Suisse Mocha is a Swiss coffee with chocolate and Cafe Vienna is a Hungarian coffee blend with spices.

The new coffees are being introduced to appeal to the younger segments of the beverage market, according to Kent Wells of Cape Girardeau, a General Foods representative.

Wells said young people do not seem to like the flavor of coffee and purchase other beverages instead. He said the internationally flavored coffees are an attempt to win them over to coffee drinking.

Gasoline prices continue to soar

NEW YORK (AP) — Gasoline prices are literally climbing out of sight on thousands of service station pumps across the country.

About 200,000 of them, 15 per cent of the nation's 1.3 million gasoline pumps, cannot count beyond the rate of 49.9 cents a gallon. The rest, manufactured in recent years, go up to 99.9 cents.

Gasoline prices are reaching and passing 50 cents a gallon because of the energy crisis. The Oil & Gas Journal, a major industry trade publication, reported that the average price of nonpremium gasoline in 52 cities across the country was 45.28 cents on Jan. 8.

The problem is compounded by the size of gasoline tanks in American cars. Many can hold more than 20 gallons. A pump that counts at a maximum 49.9 cents a gallon hits a roadblock when 20 gallons are pumped. The total sales dial registers $9.99 and it can't go any higher.

What are station operators doing about it?

Many have decided to replace the computing mechanisms in their pumps to make them work for prices up to 99.9 cents a gallon and four-digit totals. It's a conversion that costs about $150 a pump. A spokesman for Veeder-Root Co. in Hartford, Conn., says orders for its 99.9-cent-a-gallon computing mechanism have increased substantially in recent months.

The National Bureau of Standards' Office of Weights and Measures has recommended that dealers post half-gallon prices, clearly indicating by signs on pumps that what a customer sees is one half of what he owes.

But the federal Office of Weights and Measures suggests that converting nearly all of the country's pumps may not be necessary, even if the price of gas does go above $1 a gallon.

Otto Warnloff, the office's manager of technical services, says that if the United States converted to the metric system of measurements — a proposal now before Congress — gas could be sold by the liter, which is one-fifth of a gallon.

"Dollar-a-gallon gas would then cost about 20 cents a liter," he said.

Mitchell attends installation

SPRINGFIELD — Among those who attended the inauguration Saturday of Layne Morrill of Kimberling City as president and installation of other state officers of the Missouri Association of Realtors was District 16 vice president Charles M. Mitchell of Sikeston.

The inaugural culminated two days of committee and director meetings at Drury Inn attended by over 300 Realtors and associates.

A NATIVE OF BUFFALO

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — New manager Danny Ozark of the Philadelphia Phillies was born in Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 26, 1923 and was originally signed into organized baseball by ex-third baseman Heinie Groh at the end of 1941. As a player, Ozark got as high as St. Paul in the Brooklyn Dodger chain.

As a corporal in Army anti-aircraft artillery in World War II, Ozark received a Purple Heart and five Bronze Stars. He took part in the Battle of Omaha and the Battle of the Bulge. He sustained fragmentation wounds in both legs but played 16 years of minor league ball before ending his playing career in one game with Omaha in 1961.

Frankly speaking

Each death in war is great loss

INTO ISRAEL --
PART II

The ramifications of war are measured not only in military statistics -- guns, tanks, airplanes -- but in human terms as well.

Israel suffered grievously in the Yom Kippur War -- 2,500 dead, 4,000 wounded and as estimated 400 POW's and MIA's.

In a small, cohesive nation of 3,200,000 people, losses of this nature and magnitude are intensely personal. It is said that "every block of every city of Israel suffered a loss." I visited a kibbutz of 500 residents to which four young Israeli soldiers were returned in coffins. Each resident felt that loss as his own.

Thus, the mood in Israel is somber, serious, and concerned. It is not, however, a mood of desperation or despondency. The people of Israel know there are difficult days ahead and they are prepared to face them.

ECONOMIC IMPACT

200,000 reservists were called and remain on active duty today. They represent all walks of life -- teachers, lawyers, businessmen, construction workers. As a result, the Israeli economy has been handicapped, but not crippled. Essential services are performed and expeditiously so. But one cannot ignore or minimize the economic impact of the Yom Kippur War.

In light of this economic impact as well as the loss of substantial military equipment, President Nixon recommended and Congress approved $2.2 billion in aid to Israel. To have refused this to Israel at the time that the Soviet Union was massively resupplying Egypt and Syria would have been tantamount to signing Israel's death warrant. Stability will never come to the Middle East if the Arab nations perceive Israel as militarily weak.

The Israeli government, headed by Premier Golda Meir, was somewhat weakened by a reduced mandate from the electorate in the year- end elections, but it still approaches the Geneva talks with a strong desire for peace and a cautious determination that it will not be "sold out."

They understand that the simple act of signing a document with high- sounding words will not insure real peace. At Geneva Israel will insist on tangible guarantees and protective arrangements which will be living, identifiable insurance of her existence as a free and sovereign nation.

MANY ISSUES

Many contentious issues divide Israel and its Arab neighbors. The Golan Heights, the Sinai, the West Bank of the Jordan, Sharen- el- Sheik, access to the Suez Canal and the Red Sea, the Gaza Strip, the Palestinian refugees, Jerusalem -- these will all be points of tough negotiations. Any one of these emotional issues could stall or completely void the search for permanent peace.

All the major points of contention are vexing. All are acerbic. But the toughest of all is Jerusalem.

I spent two days there meeting with military and political leaders. It is perhaps the most breathtaking, awe-inspiring city I've ever visited.

Three great religious cultures merge in Old Jerusalem: the Wailing Wall sacred to Jews -- the El Aktza Mosque, second in significance only to Mecca in terms of the Moslem faith - and the Church of the Holy Sepulcher and Mt. Calvary, sacred to Christians. Jerusalem, the holiest of the holy, the well- spring of religion and the birthplace of modern civilization, as in the past, is the focal point for what can easily be described as a holy war.

NO JERUSALEM SURRENDER

Israelis, like Americans, are outspoken and do not always agree. The recent election -- a true testimonial to democracy in a time of trouble -- demonstrated this. But on one issue the Israelis speak with one, unequivocal voice -- Jerusalem will never be surrendered to outside control.

The Israelis do guarantee free access to Jerusalem to people of all faiths. Thousands of Arabs and Christians enter the city daily. But never again, the unified and determined Israeli voices say, will Jerusalem be under the political control of an outside power.

The Geneva Conference has difficult, divisive days ahead. The slow road to peace is always more difficult than the rush to war. On this road, Jerusalem stands out as the most unreconcilable issue of all.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Jan18, 1974
Daily Sikeston Standard,

Dear Mr. Blanton.

I don't know if you will see fit, or have room to print my letter or not.

But there is something on my mind, that I would like for the public to know how we feel,

There has been some critisim of our Hospital Mo. Delta in Sikeston, that I don't feel has done it justice.

My husband has been in your or our rather Hospital 5 times since March of '73 and I don't think without his good care, he rec'd from his good doctor's, nurses, and including all the staff that it takes to run a Hospital, He would never have made it, That also includes the House Keepers, Kitchen help, and the snack bar help were just great to me, So all we have is praise for the Hospital and Thank God every day for it.

I have a sister and sister- in-law that work's there and I am very proud of them. For the job they are doing. It takes every one working togetiher. And the intensive care unit I'm so thankful for. I know a lot of people had a part in making it what it is, the good nurses, and doctor's, and I feel like my Dr. (Dr. Carl Popp) has spent a lot of hours, and hardwork getting it where it is.

I spent 4½ months in there after a car wreck in 1968 and no one could have been treated better, So I know the administration is doing a fine job. Thank you, and may we ever have our good hospital.

Dorothy Yount
Oran, Mo.

P.S. If you can't print this I will understand for I have never written a letter to the paper before and mayby my wording isnt right, or my letter to long.

January 14, 1974

Dear Editor:

The Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare recently confirmed that approximately 138,000 individuals on our Social Security or Welfare rolls are not citizens of the United States. These foreigners help to make up the 29,000,000 on our welfare rolls.

Our citizenry is not generally aware of this type of "foreign aid", and I am sure it would not be approved by them if they could get any action by their representatives in Congress.

Sincerely,
C. C. Moseley

Dear Charlie:

Thank you so very much for your fine editorial in your paper of Jan. 18, in regards to the space programs. We have three sons Larry, Wendell and Tommy, that are connected with the space program and so, of course we understand much better than many, what an important part the space activities play in our present and future lives. I find it hard to explain, to friends and relatives, that it is really helpful to mankind. My biggest point, outside of the benefits, is that it does give many men and women work and they in turn spend the money in our great U.S.A. and not overseas where it certainly seems to be anything but appreciated. You said, in a few well chosen paragraphs, what I have tried to express so very long and wasn't successful. We are sending copies of this article to our sons and one for the Jet Propulsion Lab. at Pasadena, Calif. for their bulletin board. So thank you for that enlightening editorial.

Yours truly,
Mr. & Mrs. Bill Shain

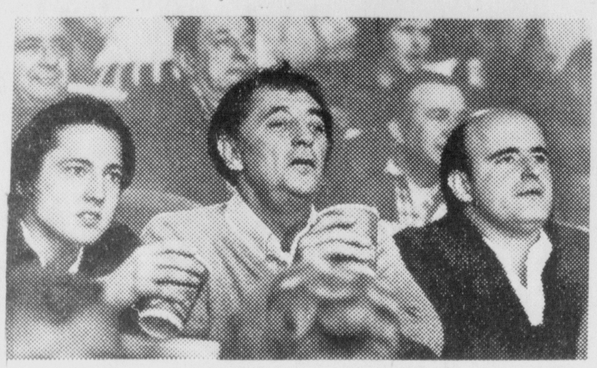
Mitchum stars in new release



'Friends' view game

Robert Mitchum, center; Peter Boyle, right; and Michael McCreery watch a hockey match, unaware of an impending murder in the movie, "The Friends of Eddie Coyle." The Paul Monash production was directed by Peter Yates from Monash's screenplay based on the best- selling novel by George V. Higgins. The movie will open Friday at Malco Twin Cinema II.

"The Friends of Eddie Coyle," a Paramount Pictures release starring Robert Mitchum will open Friday at Malco Twin Cinema II in Midtowner Village Shopping Center.

Authentic realism, gripping entertainment and the cool toughness of crime fiction are dominant elements of the film, which is based on the best-selling novel by George V. Higgins, an assistant U.S. district attorney for the state of Massa chusetts.

When the novel was published in 1972, it was praised by the critics, but what attracted both writer- producer Paul Monash and director Peter Yates to the property was not just its gutsy story of the criminal underworld of Boston, but also its human element.

"It's a gangster film with the emphasis on people," is the way Monash describes the movie, which was filmed entirely on location in Boston.

Mitchum stars as Eddie Coyle, a tough Irish hood who wheels and deals with his "friends" on both sides of the law. It is the veteran actor's 85th film role in three decades of movie stardom. Peter Boyle, who scored nationwide attention as "Joe", co stars as Dillon, a devious bartender whose saloon is a message center for the Boston underworld.

"They'll kill anyone who gets in their way," says Monash about the underworld characters, "and they'll double-cross and murder each other for professional reasons and in a professional way."

A Canadian Football League record of six field goals in one game was set by Dave Cutter, of Edmonton.

Typical American doesn't fully understand economy

NEW YORK (AP) — There are more than a few aspects of this economy that just don't add up for the typical American, a person who doesn't easily take to numbers except when a dollar sign accompanies them.

He begs to understand, for example, why oil company profits should be at record highs simultaneously with an oil shortage, why big commercial banks should profit hugely from destructively high interest rates.

While he might be aware that the answer lies in the law of supply and demand, he is understandably skeptical about the application of that law, and wonders aloud if it isn't a tool of suppliers. Do prices ever drop?

He wonders how in the world all those corporate executives tell one audience that they expect a good year for sales and earnings and the next week tell another group of the pitfalls of an oil shortage.

Their curiosity might be satisfied somewhat in noting that the audience that gets the gray forecast of impending doom is likely to be made up of critics or regulators. The sunshine is beamed at investors and stockholders.

Even stock market analysts are somewhat fascinated by some of their brethren who talk about the coming decline in corporate profits, about the recession just around the corner, and then forecast rising stock prices.

Sometimes this seeming contradiction is joined in one sentence. "Specifically," said a recent speaker before the New York Society of Security Analysts, "I believe 1974 will be a year of generally declining corporate earnings and rising stock prices."

The explanation provided, almost always, is that the stock market is a barometer, not a thermometer. It anticipates conditions the day after tomorrow but it doesn't register the weather at the moment.

IRS provides tax information

ST. LOUIS — Missouri residents can call the Internal Revenue Service office in St. Louis toll- free and get answers to their income tax questions from a group of IRS employes who have been specially trained to assist taxpayers by telephone.

The toll- free number is 1-800- 392-4200, and the hours to call are 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

A. W. McCanless, district director of IRS offices in Missouri, suggested that the toll- free dalls to St. Louis be made in the early morning or late afternoon hours, if possible, and preferably on days other than Monday. He said that the caller may get a busy signal during the peak hours in the middle of the day and on Monday, the busiest day.

During the filing period for 1972 returns, IRS offices in Missouri handled approximately 260,000 telephone calls, a 38 per cent increase over the number of calls in the prior year.

The St. Louis District has now expanded its telephone facilities to provide toll-free telephone information to all Missouri residents. This service will be available on a permanent basis and at any time of the year.
